SAY CAMPAIGN WAS SUCCESS

Clergy and Laity Talk of Chapman-Alexander Effort Here.

DECLARE RESULTS MOST BENEFICIAL

True Value Expected to Unfold Itself in Days to Come.

Clergy and laity in Fort Wayne appear to be an enthusiastic unit in the opinion that the inter-church simultaneous evangelistic campaign conducted in this city by Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman and Charles M. Alexander with their superb organization of evangelistic workers, was a splendid success.

Judged from every angle, they say that the three weeks' campaign which came to a close on Sunday evening was highly gratifying. They express much satisfaction in the evidence that not only were several hundred souls brought into the ranks of professing Christians, but that all along the line of religious endeavor there has been an awakening and a strengthening in Fort Wayne, and that the beneficial results must be infinite. They express confidence, also, that the true value of the campaign's results will continue to be shown during the coming months.

The Sentinel requested a number of the Fort Wayne men, both in the clergy and in the laity, who were active in the movement, to give an expression of their personal judgment as to the success and the value of the campaign. Their replies follow:

BY E. F. YARNELLE,
Chairman General Committee.

It is impossible correctly to estimate the value of the Chapman-Alexander campaign which has just ended in our city. This will unfold itself in the days that are to follow. Two things, however, are obvious to those of us who have been intimately connected with it:

First, that many persons that never knew the Saviour or the joys of the Christian life have without any display of fanaticism or any unhealthy emotions entered into an acceptance of the Christian faith and have promised to live it to the best of their ability.

E. F. YARNELLE,
Chairman General Committee in Evangelistic Campaign.

Secondly, within the churches themselves a far greater work has been accomplished. There has been a whole-souled reconsecration among the individual members, a reaffirming of their faith and a real desire born among them to make a more determined effort for a cleaner life and a greater service.

Whether the results thus obtained will be permanent, no one knows. We only know that our efforts have not been in vain if one soul has been born into the kingdom or one Christian finds that it is easier than before to live as he should.

BY REV. J. F. VICHERT,
Pastor First Baptist Church.

The meetings have reminded me of a statement frequently made by Mr. Moody: "It is better to set ten men at work than to do the work of ten men." The recognition of that principle has been, to my mind, the most valuable and fruitful feature of the services. To be sure Dr. Chapman's sane and winsome proclamation of the evangel has touched many hearts; Mr. Alexander's superb conduct of the musical services will be an inspiring memory, but that almost a thousand people should have engaged themselves to do personal work; that they should have pledged themselves to continue that work, constitutes a result as permanent as it is potent in gracious influence. This, more than anything else, realizes that which Dr. Chapman announced at the opening of the campaign as his chief aim, viz: the strengthening of the churches for effective work.

BY REV. C. D. RAREY,
Pastor Bethel Evangelical Church.

The south side felt the effect of the general uplift of the campaign as a whole, and also the splendid inspiration of Dr. D. S. Toy and Mr. Frank Dickson. It was generally conceded that there never had been a time in south Fort Wayne when it was so easy for men and women and young people to get right with God.

We can see splendid results in three different lines. First, many people were saved who would not have yielded to Christ in any ordinary meeting. No exact account was kept of the number of decisions. The meetings were very satisfactory in this respect and many times justified the financial expenses, yet we believe this does not represent the greatest result of the campaign.

A large per cent of the decisions were the result of the efforts of the personal workers. The Christians were taught how to lead their friends to Christ. The meetings created a favorable atmosphere in which the personal workers could labor. The joy and possibilities of personal work will keep the one thousand or more pledged to this work active for the next three months. The results will no doubt be greater than that of the immediate campaign.

The spirit of unity among the churches will never be lost. The chorus work is to be continued. Eighty-five have signed as members of a union chorus on the south side. In union there is strength, so we expect great things from the churches on the south side.

BY S. F. BOWSER,
Chairman Finance Committee.

What do I think of the Chapman-Alexander meetings? I think they were a great thing for Fort Wayne! They have certainly been productive of a substantial Christian influence such as could not be hoped for in any other way. Thousands of people attended these services who are not in the habit of going to church. Attending these meetings has awakened in the hearts of hundreds of them an interest that was lying dormant, and which will prompt them to take their places in the church as they know they should, and the reports from the different churches show that a few hundred have already done this and a great many more will surely come on. From a great many more nothing will be heard publicly, but their lives will be changed very much and from this time on their bent will be very different from what it would have been had these meetings not been held.

I think if the meetings could have been continued for several weeks yet the per cent of good would have been greater than to have stopped where we have, but surely what has been

TEN WERE KILLED; LOSS $2,000,000

Results of Terrific Gas Explosion in New York Power House.

WRECK CAUSE OF IT

New York, Dec. 20.—Investigation of the causes of the explosion in the New York Central power house yesterday which resulted in ten deaths, the injury of more than 100 persons and a money loss estimated at upward of $2,000,000, was continued with zeal today by city and county authorities. Although the exact source of the disaster has not been determined it is generally conceded that the first cause of the upheaval was a runaway train of electric cars in the Central cut near Fiftieth street and Lexington avenue that crashed over a bumper against the power house, broke a feed pipe and caused a large quantity of gas to accumulate in the power house basement.

Electric Spark Ignited It.

This was ignited possibly by an electric spark from a short circuit. The motorman of the train, Albert Seagrott, was unable to stop the cars in time to avoid their disastrous crash into the bumper. The whole trouble may be decided to have been due to slippery rails, or to some other apparently trival cause.

Investigation by Coroner Halishauser and the other authorities who are making independent inquiries is proceeding with a view to developing the circumstances of the first break in the feed pipe, the time which elapsed between this rupture and the explosion, the preventive means employed to avoid an explosion and all other details.

Searching for Bodies.

Meanwhile search of the ruins progressed for bodies. John B. Guther, an electrician, died in a hospital during the night, adding one to yesterday's list of nine known dead.

The authorities believe the number of deaths will not go over eleven. Ten are known to be dead. The officials think that perhaps one man may be dead in the ruins. Total number injured is estimated at 300. Workmen were given a scare this morning when there was an explosion in the wreckage. This was due to a quantity of gas, and the shock knocked down two laborers who were working in the debris, but they were not hurt.

EDITOR WHO COULD SHOOT.

Pair Who Stole His Whisky Suffer in Hospital and He is in Jail.

Rock Lake, N. D., Dec. 20.— George Diggens has a bullet hole in his lung and Charles Bills has one in his neck as the result of the marksmanship of Editor Treadwell, of the "Rocklake Ripples." Editor Treadwell is in jail at Cando awaiting the result of the injuries to his victims. The shooting followed the disapptarance of some whisky from the editor's office while the editor was out. While both men are seriously wounded it is thought they will recover.

MUST QUIT BUSINESS.

Philadelphia, Dec. 20.—Following its decision that the Temple Iron company, controlled by the Reading and other anthracite railroads, is an illegal combination in restraint of trade, the United States circuit court here today issued a decree permanently enjoining the corporation from doing business.

NEGRO DOES AWFUL DEED

Following Criminal Assault Slays Victim, Father and Her Niece.

SOUTH CAROLINA STIRRED BY CRIME

Negro Arrested and Taken Hurriedly Away to Keep Him from Mob.

Durham, S. C., Dec. 20.—Three charred bodies found in the burned home of J. L. Sanders, near Hester, 20 miles from Durham and strands of a girl's hair discovered in a pool of blood in the yard last night led to the arrest an hour later of Nathan Montague, a young negro, on charges of criminal assault, murder and arson.

The negro was rushed to Durham for safe keeping and will be transferred to the state penitentiary following an inquest which is to be held late today.

Man, Daughter and Child Killed.

The bodies are believed to be those of Mr. Sanders, his daughter, Mary Sanders and his little two-year-old grand-daughter.

Neighbors discovered the Sanders home on fire about 10 o'clock last night. The house burned to the ground in a short time, and when the three members of the family were found to be missing, a search of the premises including the ruins, was made. At a spot in the yard near where the house had stood there was a large pool of blood in which were found long strands of hair. Near by

LAD FELLED BY ELECTRIC SHOCK

Henry Witte Has Remarkable Escape on West Main Street.

THROWN FROM WHEEL

Henry Witte, 15 years old, residing at 3536 Lafayette street and employed as a messenger by the Western Union Telegraph company, had a narrow escape from death on West Main street this afternoon when he was knocked from his bicycle as a trolley wire fell upon him.

The electric shock was sufficient to render the lad unconscious for a time, but he soon revived and it is believed was not dangerously hurt. Witte was riding his bicycle close behind an eastbound street car between Maiden lane and Harrison street when the wire above him snapped and the broken end fell upon him.

Spectators saw a flash of blue flame dart from the bicycle as the contact came and hurried into the street to aid the lad, who had been thrown a considerable distance. It required but a few minutes to revive the lad, who appeared to suffer chiefly from bruises sustained as his head struck the pavement. He was able to go to his home. There was a blockade of cars for some time until the broken trolley wire could be repaired.

NEED NOT BE ATTACHED TO SOIL

Supreme Court Defines What a Public Work Is.

Washington, Dec. 20.—In order for a construction to be a "public work" it is not necessary for it to be attached to the soil; it may be afloat. Such is the decision of the supreme court of the United States. The point arose in a suit in the state of Washington as to whether or not the single screw steamer Lieutenant Harris, being built in 1905 at the Puget Sound Engine works for the United States army, was a "public work" within the meaning of the statute relating to sureties. The lower court held that it was within the statute and awarded a judgment against the Title Guaranty and Trust company of Scranton, Pa., on the bond and in favor of various firms and individuals for material used in the construction of the vessel. The supreme court has just affirmed the judgment.

COTTON BULLETIN.

Washington, December 20.—The census bureau's report of cotton ginning issued this morning shows 10,698,482 bales, counting round as half bales, were ginned from the growth of 1910 to December 13, compared with 9,658,085 for 1909; 11,904,269 for 1908, and 9,284,070 for 1907. The percentage of the last three crops ginned to December 13 was 92.9 for 1909; 91.0 for 1908, and 84.0 for 1907.

THE WEATHER.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Indiana—Fair tonight; Wednesday increased cloudiness with rising temperature; moderate northwest winds becoming variable.

Ohio—Cloudy with snow in north portion tonight and colder in west and south portions tonight; brisk and high northwest winds.

Lower Michigan—Cloudy with snow flurries tonight or Wednesday, continued cold tonight; rising temperature Wednesday; brisk northwest winds shifting to southwest Wednesday.

Illinois—Fair and continued cold tonight; Wednesday increasing cloudiness with slowly rising temperature.

GAMBLERS PLOT TO HARM POLICE HEAD

CLEM DRISCOLL

New York, Dec. 20.—Mr. Clement J. Driscoll, first deputy police commissioner, declared at police headquarters that there was a plot to do him bodily harm. He asserted that the plot was formed by Harlem gamblers and that a fund of $15,000 was being raised to hand to some one who would "put him out of the way."

Mr. Driscoll further declared that he was fully informed of the plot and that the man who had been selected to get rid of him had been at police headquarters recently, locked in a cell. He says he knows the full details of the scheme and that there "will be something doing soon."

LORIMER WILL FIND TROUBLE

Formidable Opposition to Whitewashing Develops in Senate.

SUB-COMMITTEE IS DISTRUSTED

Has Exceeded Authority in Report Exonerating Lorimer.

Washington, Dec. 20.—What may prove formidable opposition to the adoption of any report to the senate for the exoneration of Senator Lorimer as the result of the investigation of charges of bribery in connection with his election by the Illinois legislature to succeed Senator Hopkins is said to have developed on the senate floor today.

Several senators are declared to have agreed that they would compel a postponement of the whole subject until after the holiday recess in order that all members might have an opportunity to digest the testimony as well as the report of the committee on privileges and elections.

Burrows Calls Committee.

Chairman Burrows called the committee on privileges and elections together today and soon after the adjournment it was reported that he had been authorized to report the Lorimer matter to the senate in accordance with the findings of the sub-committee. Great dissatisfaction is said to have been expressed because of the failure of the committee to have printed the findings of the sub-committee. It is asserted that there has been an investigation in which such diligent effort has been made to keep the proceedings secret.

According to authoritative information the sub-committee was a unit in declaring that there had been no evidence that Senator Lorimer had been involved in any manner in purchasing votes of individual members of the legislature, but that there is some difference of opinion as to what would have been the result if all the votes against which there was taint had been eliminated.

Senators Are Dissatisfied.

It developed today also that some members of the full committee believed that the sub-committee should have reported merely whether bribery had been resorted to in the election in which Mr. Lorimer was successful and the instructions given by the senate in authorizing the investigations had not called for a report of exoneration for Mr. Lorimer. Regardless of this fact no one could be found who was willing to bring in a minority report.

Although Senators Frazier and Heyburn, who were members of the sub-committee, filed individual statements, they did not dissent from the findings of the sub-committee that there was no evidence that Mr. Lorimer had been a party to corruption if any was practiced in the election. Their individual statements dealt wholly with the testimony involving members of the Illinois legislature. There were 202 votes cast on the ballot on which Lorimer was elected. Of these, he received 108 and opposition candidates 94 votes.

A Complicated Question.

Speaker Shurtleff had declared a

TOWNSHIP OR WARD AS UNIT

That is the Democratic Legislative Program as Laid Down.

NO NEW LAWS ON SALOON BUSINESS

Other Laws on the Schedule of the Democrats for Coming Session.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 20.—According to W. W. Spencer, chairman of the democratic legislative committee on party measures the comittee will recomend that the local option unit be changed from county to city and to township outside of the city and stop at that.

"The democratic platform does not say a word about regulation or restriction of the liquor business," said Mr. Spencer today, "and this committee will not tie up the party to any measure not contained in the platform."

The call of the committee to meet next Monday in this city was sent out today by Chairman Spencer. The other members of the committee are Adolph Seidensticker, Indianapolis; Homer L. McGinnis, Martinsville; Adam Wise, Plymouth, and Edward J. Veneman, Evansville.

Other Laws.

Mr. Spencer says there are twelve subjects mentioned in the democratic state platform on which bills will be prepared as follows:

To change the unit of local option from county to city and township outside of cities.

To provide for better maintenance of turnpikes.

To prevent child labor evils.

For better sanitary conditions in workshops.

For a weekly wage law.

Will Combine Offices.

To consolidate the offices of factory inspector and labor commissioner into one office and to call it the state bureau of inspection.

To provide for the appointment of the state mine inspector by the governor.

Co-employe's liability.

To require arbitration of all disputes between capital and labor.

To shorten the hours of labor.

To prevent competition of prison made goods against goods made by free labor.

Registration of voters.

FRAME GOOD ROADS BILL.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 20.—The legislative sub-committee of the Indiana Good Roads association, consisting of Wm. F. Elliott, chairman; E. J. T. Jeup, secretary; C. A. Kenyon, Wm. Fortune, L. Ert Slack and W. L. Slinkard is at work on the draft of a bill to be presented to the next state assembly, under which it is hoped better roads may be obtained for Indiana. It is expected to have the draft of the bill ready for the meeting of the full legislative committee of the association, which will be held next Tuesday in the office of Addison C. Harris, its chairman.

There will be special services tonight and tomorrow night at the Grace Reformed church and a reception of new members will be held.

TEMPLE IRON COMPANY HIT

Federal Court Issues Its Decree Putting the Concern Out of Business.

RAILROADS THAT OWN STOCKS OUT

Must Cease to Exercise Control Over Outlawed Corporation.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 20.—The United States court of the eastern ed down its decision in the anthracite ed down its decision in th eanthracite coal case two weeks ago, declaring the Temple Iron company a combination in restraint of trade and dismissing the government's contention as to other matters in the suit, today issued its decree which conforms with the opinion delivered two weeks ago. The decree is an air tight instrument and restrains the railroad corporations that own its stocks from further exercising control over the Temple Iron company, but does not grant the government's request that the other points in the case be dismissed without prejudice.

Other Contentions Dismissed.

The court simply dismissed the other contentions of the government and it is a question whether the government can ever take up again certain alleged combinations it mentioned in its bill of complaint.

The decree states that the Reading company, Central Railroad company of New Jersey, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company, Le-

FEAR FOR SAFETY OF TWO VESSELS

One Woermann Liner Goes to Rescue of Sister Off the Canaries.

NO WORD HAS COME

Las Palmas, Canary Islands, Dec. 20.—Anxiety is felt for the Woermann Steamship Line steamers Ingbert and Irma Woermann. The latter vessel started out from here yesterday in a terrific gale to succor her sister ship which had been sighted twelve miles off the coast displaying signals of distress and indicating that her engines had broken down.

Since then no word has come from either of the liners and they have not been sighted by incoming vessels. It is thought that they may have been driven northward by the fierce storm which still raged today.

The German consul here is aboard the Irma. Both of the German steamers ply between Hamburg, Rotterdam and West African ports.

DISCUSSING LIQUOR LAWS.

Indiana Hotel Men's Association Is in Session.

Indianapolis, Dec. 20.—Hotel keepers, members of the Indiana association from all over Indiana, met here in secret session today to transact routine business and discuss the question of liquor legislation. J. Edward Krause, of this city, secretary of the association, said today that the hotel keepers have ideas of their own as to the kind of liquor legislation they need and that they would decide what is best and arrange to ask for it.

The meeting will close with a banquet tonight at which Governor Marshall, John W. Kern, Charles A. Bookwalter and Thomas Taggart have been invited to speak.

FATEFUL DAY FOR FIVE IN GARY

Gary, Ind., Dec. 20.—Five men were killed in three accidents here early today. Three met death under the wheels of a Lake Shore train, one was struck by a timber and the fifth was frozen to death. The dead are: James Birchell, John Servi and Charles Postal, who were employed in rush track laying and were struck by a Lake Shore and Michigan Southern passenger train and instantly killed. Andrew Petrow was frozen to death and Tricholas Maton, a sewer builder, was struck on the head by a timber and his skull fractured.

MRS. AILEEN FREED.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—Judge W. H. Seaman in the United States circuit court of appeals today issued a writ of supersedeas liberating Mrs. Aileen Christopher, the government's chief witness in the investigation of the alleged brick trust. Mrs. Christopher was serving a 30 day sentence for contempt of court, ordered by District Judge Kennesaw M. Landis when she refused or failed to furnish the federal grand jury with certain papers.

WILL ACCEPT MANILA BONDS.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh has decided to accept bonds of the Manila Railroad company at 90 per cent of their market value but not exceeding 90 per cent of par as security for government deposits in national banks. Such bonds cannot be applied to postal savings deposits. No additional public deposits are in contemplation at this time and the bonds of the Manila Railroad company merely have been added to the list of securities which are acceptable.

DRUNKENNESS A MITIGATION

President Commutes Murderer's Sentence on the Ground of It.

IS NO EXCUSE, BUT FIXES THE GRADE

Mr. Taft Saves from Death a Man Who Slew While Intoxicated.

Washington, Dec. 20.—In commuting today to life imprisonment the sentence of death passed upon John Wynne at Honolulu, President Taft takes the view that intoxication at the time of committing murder may be urged in extenuation of the degree of the crime. Wynne, who was an oiler on the steamer Rosecrans, was convicted of the murder of a man named McKinnen, the third engineer of that vessel, in Honolulu harbor.

Wynne was under the orders of McKinnen and had often expressed grievances against him. Returning aboard the vessel one night in Honolulu Wynne passed McKinnen's stateroom and saw him lying asleep with his head toward the door. Wynne obtained a hammer and mashed McKinnen's skull.

What President Says.

In passing upon the case, President Taft indorsed the papers in part as follows:

"If Wynne was sober and in his right mind, there was ample time and opportunity for him to form a premeditated purpose to kill McKinnen and to execute it and the elements of murder in the first degree would all be present and require the verdict given.

"But there is evidence that Wynne had been drinking all day and that when he came aboard his gait was unsteady and he was in a drunken condition.

"It is sufficient, in my judgment, to raise a reasonable doubt whether his mind was in a condition capable of that premeditation necessary to constitute murder in the first degree."

No Excuse—But

"Drunkenness is no excuse for crime, but it may be inconsistent with a state of mind necessary to constitute a certain degree of crime," continues the paper. "Of course, if after determining to commit murder one gets drunk in order to nerve himself to the deed, the drunkenness only points to and confirms the premeditation but where the purpose to kill is formed in a drunken brain, the intoxicated condition rebuts the inference of premeditation necessary in murder of the first degree."

The president's endorsement was in his own handwriting.

CUDAHY LEAVES $11,000,000.

Will Provides Annuities for Widow and Seven Children.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—Michael Cudahy, founder of the Cudahy firm of meat packers, left an estate worth $11,000,000, according to the will which was made public today. Of this $9,000,000 is in personal property and the remainder is real estate. Under the terms of the will the widow, Catherine Cudahy, will receive an annuity of $30,000 to be paid from the estate by the trustees. Hospitals and similar institutions are given specific sums and his seven children are to receive annuities of $10,000 each.

The whole estate, real and personal outside of certain personal effects and some Pasadena, Cal., real estate, is willed to the trustees, to be held in trust for five years and managed according to their judgment.

After Mrs. Cudahy's annuity is paid, it is directed each of the children shall be paid annually $10,000 for five years, and to John Shaw, of Chicago, $500 annually for the same period. The children are Mrs. William P. Nelson, Mary J. Cudahy, Clara A. Cudahy, Mrs. John B. Casserly, of San Mateo, Cal., John P. Cudahy, Joseph M. Cudahy and Edward I. Cudahy.

The remainder of the yearly income is to be given to the trustees also to be held in trust, and when the estate finally is distributed at the end of the trust period, $500,000 is to be given to Mrs. Catherine Cudahy, the widow, or her heirs.

AIMS TO "EXPOSE" ROOSEVELT.

Representative Rainey Asks Investigation of Railroad Expenses.

Washington, Dec. 20.—A congressional investigation of Theodore Roosevelt's railroad expenses while he was president is directed in a resolution introduced today by Representative Rainey, of Illinois, a democrat. It was referred to the committee on rules. It provides that a committee of five investigate how much, if any, of these expenses were paid by Mr. Roosevelt or by any one acting for him. It further provides for inquiry as to the contracts made for him, or any one acting for him, with the Pennsylvania railroad, "or the demands for transportation made by Theodore Roosevelt while president, on said road." The committee is to make the same investigation with regard to other railroads furnishing similar transportation.

SAYS HE WAS ROBBED.

William Bronze Claims to Have Been Beaten Up By Four Men.

A collector who visited the house occupied by William Bronze at 674 Walton avenue, found him badly beaten up this morning and he stated that four men entered his home last night and robbed him of $5. His face was bruised and he had evidently been severely punished, although his condition is not serious.

The collector reported the matter to the police and an investigation was started this afternoon. Bronze did not notify headquarters of the robbery and evidently did not want to make the matter public.

STOOD OVER HIS WIFE WITH CLUB

John Pio is Charged With Brutal Conduct in Divorce Suit.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

In a divorce complaint filed in the circuit court today Toria Pio charges that John W. Pio, her husband, stood over her with a club and threatened to kill her if she left him or ever revealed most horrible conditions that resulted from his forgetfulness of his marriage vows. She says she is now in a hospital and under treatment and that her health has been ruined.

They were married March 29, 1896, and lived together until about a week ago and have three children, of whom the wife asks the custody. He is charged with several threats to kill his wife and with having called her names too vile to put in her complaint. Breen and Morris are her attorneys.

Injunction Will Stand.

Under an agreement reached between James A. Bingham, attorney general, and James M. Barrett and C. M. Niezer, representing the Hay and Grain Producers' and Shippers' association of Northeastern Indiana, there will be no depositions taken and the case will rest until it comes up for a hearing on its merits.

W. M. Dean, present secretary, was examined at Bluffton yesterday, and he declared there is no working agreement governing prices and that the association has practically been out of business for some time. The men against whom the proceedings were directed say that no hardship is being worked by the existence of a restraining order and that they had as soon see it stand until a final hearing is had. The action was taken for the purpose of saving costs.

Court Notes.

Alleging that he did not receive a scholarship at Tri-State Normal college in Angola in accordance with his contract, Charles Donelly has filed suit to recover $75 from the League of American Colleges.

The marriage contract between Anna and Alonzo Huffman was set aside after a hearing in the circuit court. The husband was insane at the time the marriage was performed.

The will of Christian F. Krah was filed in the circuit court today and after provision for paying for his last illness his property, consisting of a house and lot in New Haven, is to be divided between his children.

In the superior court Amanda McSwinney was granted a divorce from George McSwinney.

RONDOUT TAKEN BACK.

Must Return to Minnesota Reformatory to Serve Sentence.

Julius Rondout left at noon today in charge of an officer from the Minnesota reformatory at St. Cloud and must serve the remainder of his sentence. He left the state without permission and in violation of his parole. A strong effort was made through Governor Marshall to secure permission for Rondout to remain in Indiana but this was denied.

constitutional majority of the legislature to be 102 members. The testimony adduced by the sub-committee on privileges and elections brought in the names of four members of the legislature having received bribes and three as having paid money to influence votes.

Without bringing Mr. Lorimer into the transaction at all, Senator Frazier has filed a statement in which it is said that he declares that seven votes should not be counted for Lorimer. Several other senators are said to share this view, but there is difference of opinion as to whether their elimination would have affected his election.

If the seven were subtracted it would reduce the constitutional majority. Some are said to contend that such would be the case, while others assert a constitutional majority is unalterable whether effected by corruption or any other means.

Senator Heyburn's Statement.

The statement filed by Senator Heyburn is said to be an argument against eliminating votes of such members of the legislature as confessed to receiving bribes on the ground that the statements of self-confessed perjurers should not be permitted to overthrow the election.

Several senators not members of the committee on privileges and elections are reported to have said that pressure has been brought upon individual members of the committee to not file minority reports. No conformation of this report could be obtained, although it appeared probable that the Burrows report would not receive the unanimous support of the committee. Nevertheless nothing could be learned of the reasons of individuals for not submitting their dissent in the form of minority findings.

Senator Burrows is expected to submit the report of the committee tomorrow. He has on file the statements submitted by Senators Heyburn and Frazier and these will be made public with the report of the committee.

LAICIZING YALE BODY.

Governing Corporation Losing Its Clerical Character.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 20.—The election of Clarence H. Kelsey, of New York city, to the Yale corporation attracts attention in Yale circles here as a new step in the laicizing of the governing body of the university.

The corporation now consists of three ex-officio members, President Hadley and the governor and the lieutenant governor of Connecticut; six members elected each for six years by the alumni and ten members as successors of the original ten trustees who elect their own members for life.

Up to a few years ago the ten were all clergymen, but since that time by the voluntary action of the clergymen, three laymen have been elected almost in succession—Payson Merrill, of New York; Charles Hopkins Clark, of Hartford, and now Mr. Kelsey. As a result of these changes the old clerical majority of one in the corporation of nineteen members is changed to a laical majority of five and if two more laymen are elected as successors of the original trustees of the clerical dominance in that body will pass also.

HAD THE IDEAL RECORD.

Kirksville, Mo., Dec. 20.—Wm. Howard Sheeks, whose proudest boast was that he had never told a lie or quarreled with his wife, and who had celebrated more wedding anniversaries probably than any man in North Missouri, died yesterday at his home near Kirksville at the age of 89. He and his wife were planning to celebrate their seventieth wedding anniversary, on Dec. 24. His wife, aged 90, is prostrated.

BIG CHANGES IN THE WATERWORKS

Board May Take Up a Plan to Duplicate the Machinery.

BIDS FOR THE WELLS

It is possible that when the question of new wells and an additional pumping station for the waterworks department is taken up the board will consider a proposition to put in all of the machinery in duplicate so as to be prepared for all emergencies.

At one time in the summer of 1909 during the hot weather and at a time when the reservoir was being repaired, two pumping stations broke down at the same time, but fortunately neither was out of commission for a long time. It is proposed to put in the machinery at Nos. 1 and 3 stations in duplicate and to follow the same course in event a station is built on the land in the east end of the city.

Bids for wells were opened this afternoon by the board of public works and the question of awarding a contract was taken under advisement. The work will be taken up in a short time if the proposals are found satisfactory.

Cunningham Complained.

C. O. Cunningham, of the Wabash Railroad company, complained to the board of public works today that the Pennsylvania company is not leaving a sufficient clearance at Fairfield avenue and that it is not doing the work at Calhoun street in the proper way. At Fairfield avenue the Wabash people claim freight traffic is being interfered with and at Calhoun street passenger business is suffering. The board promised to take the matter up.

Municipal Notes.

The subway at Calhoun street has been thrown open to light traffic and will be kept open during the winter. Crushed stone will be put in the driveway when the ground thaws out.

Although the board has advertised twice for bids for painting bridges in the city limits, but one bid was filed. As it was not accompanied by a certified check it was rejected.

The Barber Asphalt company reported the work of paving Home avenue from Fairfield avenue to Broadway completed, and the city engineer was instructed to prepare assessment rolls.

Contractor John F. Brooks was given permission to pave Florida drive, in Forest park addition, with tarvia filled macadam under private contract.

SETTLES CLAIM FOR $1,800.

The Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company has settled the Kingsland wreck claim in the case of Harold Nelson, one of the wreck victims, who expired aboard the car in which the injured were being brought to the Fort Wayne hospitals after the catastrophe. The company paid H. B. Nelson, of Bluffton, father of the young man, $1,800.

It is also said that settlement has been made in the cases of John W. Tribolet and his daughter, Miss Margaret Tribolet, but the sum paid was not made public. The adjustment was made with George Tribolet, administrator of the estate.

MINERS SHOT IN RIOT.

West Newton, Pa., Dec. 20.—Three miners were shot in a riot at Osborn mine today. There was a strike on at the mine and deputy sheriffs were guarding the property when the riot occurred. Jos. Rofack is at the McKeesport hospital with serious wounds. The other wounded were taken t otheir homes.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

BLIND TIGER RULING.

Marion, Ind., Dec. 20.—Judge Henry J. Paulus, of the Grant county court has held that a licensed druggist cannot be prosecuted under the blind tiger act. The decision was given in the case of George Keider, a druggist, charged with violating the liquor laws. Following the decision the prosecutor moved to dismiss other cases pending against druggists charged with the same offense.

MRS. EDWARDS IS STILL A PROBLEM

New Governor of Keystone State Must Face the Embarrassment.

CONDEMNED TO DIE

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 20.—Among the legacies Governor Stuart will leave for John K. Tenner, his successor, when he retires from office next month, is the disposal of the case of Mrs. Kate Edwards, who is in the Berks county jail under sentence of death for the murder of her husband about nine years ago. Because of the public sentiment stirred up at the time of her conviction against hanging a woman two governors have passed up her case to their successors.

Story of the Crime.

Mrs. Edwards and a negro named Gleason were arrested for the murder of the husband. The colored man was a paramour of the woman and the husband declared he would kill her; so that in fear, if not in a sort of self-defense, she killed him one night and threw his body into a well.

Mrs. Edwards and the negro were tried for murder and Gleason, on a re-trial, was acquitted, though once convicted, but the woman was convicted and sentenced to be hanged.

Governor Pennypacker set a day for the execution, but before the date arrived an application was made to the board of pardons for the commutation of the woman's death sentence to imprisonment for life and on the night previous to the day of execution Governor Pennypacker reprieved the woman in order that the board might hear the case.

Just in Time.

The messenger bearing the governor's reprieve arrived at the Reading jail while Mrs. Edwards was with the minister who was administering the last rites to her.

The board of pardons took up the case and then declined to commute the death sentence. This was seven years ago. It then rested with Governor Pennypacker again to fix the day for Mrs. Edwards' execution, but he never took action. Governor Stuart likewise has not taken action and now the case descends to Governor Tener.

Meantime Mrs. Edwards has occupied a cell in the Berks county jail and is said to be a most exemplary prisoner.

PLANS TO CONTEST REMOVAL.

State Gas Inspector Contends Term Continues to March 10.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 20.—Although Edward Barrett, state geologist, has written Bryce Kinney, state gas supervisor, that the latter must prepare to vacate his office Jan. 1, Mr. Kinney has a commission that does not expire until March 10, 1911, and will contest any effort to oust him. The office was created March 8, 1891, and provides that the inspector shall serve four years, or until his successor is appointed. Mr. Kinney has obtained an opinion from Edward M. White, assistant attorney general, that his term does not expire until March 10, 1911. Mr. Barrett has appointed William E. Morse, of Fortville, as natural gas supervisor and expected to make a place for him Jan. 1. Sixteen years ago when W. S. Blatchley became state geologist, he retained a democrat as natural gas supervisor from November until the following March because he did not believe he legally could dispossess him. Two years ago a bill was introduced in the general assembly to abolish the office on the ground that no excuse could be offered for its existence.

SON DIDN'T TAKE MONEY.

Frank Shefman Says Money Was Stolen From Store.

In their investigation of the robbery of the Louis Shefman & Son grocery, where $5 was reported stolen Sunday night, the police had not had an opportunity to see the son to find out whether or not he had taken the money for safe keeping. The police say they did not intend to convey the impression that he had taken it without right. He is interested in the store and it was believed that he might have put the money in his pocket to keep it or taken it to spend as he had a perfect right to do.

Young Shefman, however, declares he was not near the store Sunday afternoon, the time when the money was taken, and he is fully corroborated by friends with whom he spent the afternoon and evening. He insists the store was robbed. At all events, it is clear the young man had no connection with the disappearance of the money and inference that he had does him an injustice.

BRODERICK OUT OF PRISON.

Elkhart Banker Serves Time for Looting His Concern.

Leavenworth, Kan., Dec. 20.—Justus L. Broderick, formerly a banker of Elkhart, Ind., can eat his Christmas dinner at home, having been released from the federal prison here today, after serving a sentence of ten years for violation of the national banking laws. He has been assistant to the chief clerk of the prison for several years.

Broderick was the president of the Elkhart National bank that failed a number of years ago for more than $600,000 and dragged down with it several business institutions. It was one of the worst bank failures ever experienced in Indiana and a great many poor people, some of whom had deposited every penny of their money in the bank were among the victims.

EVANSVILLE BUYS A PARK.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 20.—The city council today voted to buy for $60,000 Sarvin park, a 78-acre wooded tract at the north edge of the city. In an effort to pass the appropriation ordinance Monday night Mayor Heilman had a police captain arrest four bolting councilmen and lead them back into the council hall to vote.

SAYS CAMPAIGN WAS SUCCESS

done will pay many times what it has cost.

BY REV. C. CLAUD TRAVIS,
Pastor Wayne Street Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Chapman-Alexander evangelistic campaign, just closed, has left upon Fort Wayne a lasting impression. The effect of this meeting can be considered from a two-fold standpoint—the direct and the indirect results.

As a direct result of the campaign nearly all of our churches will increase their membership. This means much, but this is only part of the work done.

Several hundred people have definitely committed themselves to lives of righteousness. And when one remembers the possibility which lies wrapped up in every life, either for good or ill, not only to the individual, but to society at large, and eliminating the thought of the "world to come"—the work stands eminently justified.

Statistics can not be depended upon to measure the effectiveness of this campaign, from the very fact that religion primarily deals with things unseen. And the best side of a man's life is that which has to do with faith and love, hope and assurance.

The effort was not a wave of foaming excitement which broke over our city, only to spend itself in tumult, ebb away and be forgotten in a few months. No man can say that Dr. Chapman played upon the fears of men or took advantage of their emotions.

The gospel was presented in eloquent simplicity and lucid truthfulness. It was not cramped by bigotry or marred by fanaticism. Those who attended will always bear a deeper impression of their responsibility to God and their duty to their fellowmen.

BY REV. A. K. ZARTMAN,
Pastor Grace Reformed Church.

The Chapman-Alexander campaign—what about the meetings? As for results, they can only be good, and it is not possible for anyone to form any adequate conception of the good that has been done, and of final results. That the city and community have been mightily stirred, all will agree. Thousands heard the gospel message as it was preached and sung, and thousands more were reached and moved as the message reached them through the newspapers and friends. Aged people and shut-ins who could not attend the meetings bear testimony to these facts, for some of them have already confessed Christ and taken their places in the church. The churches have been quickened, hundreds have rededicated themselves to the Lord. They will live better lives and will take their places along with others in the church as active and consecrated workers. Hundreds have accepted the Lord and have already openly confessed Him. Hundreds more have been convicted of sin and feel the need of a Savior, and they will find their way into the Kingdom.

Some things that especially impressed us and were emphasized: First, the entire party of evangelists and workers were a company of godly men and women, full of faith and the Holy Ghost. They were living witnesses for Christ and the power of His gospel. Second, the preaching, in sermon and song, was the gospel of Jesus Christ. There was no uncertain sound about the message. It was Jesus and Him crucified. There was a faithful adherence to the cardinal truths of the Word. Sin with its results, and redemption through Jesus Christ—this was the message.

Holier living and full surrender on the part of the Lord's people were emphasized. Any one can see the importance of this. The church a working church; every professing Christian a soul-winner. The people heard these messages gladly. The truth was preached and sung into them, and we have every hope and assurance of great results in the days and weeks and months which are before us.

BY REV. EARLE MARION TODD,
Pastor West Jefferson Street Church of Christ, and Secretary General Committee.

Was the campaign worth while?

There can be but one answer for those who appreciate the value to any community of even the smallest gain to the cause of religion and morality. It was worth while. Its influence will be felt for good in our civic and social life for many a day to come. Every agency that is working for human uplift in our city will be strengthened. The life of the churches will be more intense and joyous, and their work more real. The work of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. will receive an immense impulse. Benevolence and philanthropy will find fuller expression. There will be less sectarianism—of which, however, there has never been a great deal—and more Christianity; less conventional piety—of which there has been a vast amount—and more sacrificial service. How much more remains to be seen, but there will be MORE, and that is the great thing.

Moderate as was the cost of the campaign—anywhere from one-fourth to one-sixth of the amount alleged by its critics, as will be seen when the figures are published—there are some who will continue to regard the campaign as a species of "graft." But these will be found without exception to be men who have no appreciation of spiritual values. To those to whom religion and those private and public virtues that root themselves in religion, are an asset of value to a community, the cost of the campaign will seem insignificant.

NEGROE DOES AWFUL DEED

the searchers found a large pocket knife, covered with blood. Soon afterward the bodies were discovered, completing the evidence of the tragedy.

Identify Knife as Negroes.

One of the neighbors identified the knife as belonging to Montague. He recognized it as the one he had seen the negro use in scraping hogs yesterday at the place of another neighbor where Montague was assisting in killing hogs. He also remembered that Miss Sanders was there at the time.

Acting upon this information Sheriff Wilson went at once to Montague's home and accused him of committing the crime. The negro was covered with blood. It is alleged, and was trembling with fear. He offered resistance but was subdued and taken into custody. There was great excitement in the community following the news of the arrest and the sheriff rushed the negro cross country to prevent lynching.

THE NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

Mt. Etna Methodists Dedicate Splendid New Church and Farmers Respond Liberally.

Huntington, Ind., Dec. 20.—Their $6,000 new church home fully paid for, and $200 or more in the treasury is the gratifying position in which Mt. Etna Methodists found themselves at the close of the dedication services Sunday evening. Those farmers of the southern part of the county came up with money in a manner that was surprising to see, and Dr. Hollopeter, who had charge of the fund raising had no trouble at all.

When the call for subscriptions was made at the morning service the ladies' aid society pledged $500 to set the ball rolling. They had already given $400, so that their contributions headed the list easily. Then came Mr. and Mrs. John W. Giltner with $200 and eleven people with $100 apiece. This was almost beyond expectation. Nine substantial citizens of the farming community then signed their names for $50 each, while there were numerous others who gave figures ranging from $25 down. In all $3,407 was raised. The church cost in round numbers $6,250, of which about half had been raised prior to dedication day, so that there is a good margin left in the treasury after the building debt is all cleared up.

A notable feature of the day was a contribution on the life of Henry Bruner, founder of the Mt. Etna church. Mr. Bruner was born in Virginia in 1800. He was converted in a Methodist camp meeting on Patterson's creek in Virginia in 1823, and was immediately made a class leader and exhorter. Removing to Indiana in 1830 he settled in the neighborhood of Fox Station, where he organized a Methodist class. He went to Mt. Etna two or three years later and organized a Methodist church in the log cabin in which the father of Elmer and Lawrence Mahoney was living. His enlarged picture will have a prominent place in the church.

WILL REMOVE TO MARION.

Motor Company to Transfer General Offices to That City.

Marion, Ind., Dec. 20.—The general offices of the Western Motor company will be moved from Logansport to Marion, Jan. 1. This removal will mean that the general sales and purchasing departments will be brought to Marion. The motor manufacturing department which has been maintained at Logansport will be brought to Marion also and consolidated with the plant here. This will mean that many workmen in the mechanical department will remove to this city and the plant here when in full operation will employ between 500 and 600 men. The foundry will remain in Logansport.

DIED NEAR WATERLOO.

Waterloo, Ind., Dec. 20.—Josiah Mcentarfer, aged 75, for years one of the prominent farmers of Grant township, died Sunday. He is survived by the widow and one daughter, Mrs. Wesley Roop.

ICE IS BROKEN FOR BAPTISMAL RITES

And Eleven Converts Were Immersed in the Cold Waters of Treaty Creek.

Wabash, Ind., Dec. 20.—The hard frozen surface of Treaty creek was no barrier to the earnest Christian workers who desired the baptismal service according to the teachings of the Christian church Sunday afternoon and a hole was cut in ice about seven inches in thickness and eleven newly acquired members of the church were baptized by Evangelist Barry, of Carthage, who is at present engaged in holding a revival at the Treaty Christian church. Following the baptismal service each one was heavily wrapped and rushed to their homes where a complete change of clothing awaited them and none is any the worse for their chilly reception.

The party desiring the baptismal service consisted of nine girls and two boys and as the Treaty church is not equipped with the regulation tank for such services it was necessary to hold the service in Treaty creek near by.

Rev. Mr. Barry, of Carthage, is at present engaged in a revival at the Christian church at Treaty and all of those who were baptized were newly converted members of the church, as the result of his meetings. The teachings of the Christian church is for immersion instead of the other methods used by some denominations and the majority of the churches are fitted with a large tank in the building for such occasions.

DECATUR IS IN NEED.

New High School Building There a Necessity.

Decatur, Ind., Dec. 20.—Professor J. N. Study, superintendent of the Fort Wayne city schools, and a member of the Indiana board of education, was here yesterday, making the annual inspection of the Decatur high schools. He has not been here for a number of years, the inspection having been made latterly by Professor Kelley, of Richmond. Professor Study speaks in high terms of the present condition of the Decatur schools and says the standard at this time is a high one. There is one thing that he expressed himself upon and in which he agrees with the superintendent here, Prof. E. E. Rice, and the members of the city school board, and that is that the time is drawing near when a new high school building will be an absolute necessity and he advices that this matter be taken up at once.

DEATH NEAR ROANOKE.

Roanoke, Ind., Dec. 20.—Mrs. David Kelsey, prominent among the older residents in the vicinity of Roanoke, died yesterday after an illness of several weeks. She was about seventy-five years old and had suffered a gradual decline, due to advanced age, for several years. Five weeks ago her condition became serious and since that time she had slowly weakened. Death had been expected for several days and when she passed away yesterday afternoon it was with members of her family by her bedside.

SALOON LEASES SOUGHT AT WABASH

Negotiations in Progress for Best Locations and Parties Will Pay High Rents.

Wabash, Ind., Dec. 20.—Negotiations are in progress by several persons for desirable rooms for saloon purposes in this city and it is expected that within a few days several leases will be closed for property in the best locations for saloons.

In the negotiations high rentals are the basis in each case, and those who get in first will not only have the pick and choosing of the best places, but will have the advantage of doing business without competition, while the slower brethren are getting back into the business.

It is taken for granted by the brewery interests and by the men formerly engaged in the saloon business that the county option law will be repealed within a month after the legislature convenes in January and that at the March term of county commissioners' court.

It will be just two years one week from Thursday since the county option act became effective in Wabash.

It is predicted by one ex-saloonist that before the end of 1911 there will be at least fifteen saloons in Wabash, as it is the conviction of the men who were in the retail trade until two years ago, that the legislature will enact a law very liberal to the saloonkeepers.

DIED IN THE WEST.

Angola, Ind., Dec. 20.—Word was received by friends of the death of David G. Smith, an old resident of this county, Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Newman, at Oakdale, Neb. The deceased was in his eighty-third year, and had left here only three weeks ago to spend the winter with his daughter in the west. Mr. Smith formerly lived in York township, this county, and the remains will be brought back and buried beside those of his deceased wife, in the Powers' burying ground.

THEIR FATHER IS DEAD.

Kendallville, Ind., Dec. 20.—Mrs. D. H. Stinson and daughter, Frances, and George Griswold were called to Hudson, Mich., yesterday on account of the death of their father, F. M. Griswold, who died Sunday morning after a lingering illness aged 65 years. Death was due to Bright's disease. The funeral will be held Wednesday.

UNDERWENT OPERATION.

Columbia City, Ind., Dec. 20.—County Surveyor Harry G. Ballinger went to Fort Wayne Monday, where he submitted to an operation, having his tonsils removed, the operation being performed by Dr. Bulson. Mr. Ballinger had been a sufferer for some time with this complaint.

IS COUNTY COUNCILMAN.

Warsaw, Ind., Dec. 20.—The Kosciusko county council, in special session on Monday, at the court house, named John C. Meredith as a county councilman to fill the un-expired term of James W. Parks, who died at his home in Clunette, on Dec. 10.

THE REVIVAL CAMPAIGN.

The season of great religious activity through which Fort Wayne has been passing is ended only so far as the central feature of it is concerned. The Chapman-Alexander party have gone, but the work they inaugurated and the movement they stirred will be carried forward. The question has become frequent and it is not impertinent—What good has been done? Strange, indeed, would it be if results purposed to be wrought on men's lives and effects designed to be permanent could even be apprehended with any fulness, much less described at this time. Christianity is a life to be lived here as well as a condition to life everlasting and those who, during these meetings, have been for the first time brought to conviction of sin and surrendered to the commands of God, will for themselves show what the results in that direction are. All the community cannot have its eye on the goings and comings of every one in it, so that these stupendous changes that have been brought about in hundreds of lives will not be present to the view of all. But these are results to be felt, not seen. And if the world neither noted nor cared what had been done in making these lives new, better, consecrated, saved, it would matter not a whit to the stupendous import of the change in these lives themselves.

The churches have been stirred to new zeal and put in sympathetic touch with thousands it most desired to reach. With quickened spirit and stronger consecration they will press on in their work to results that will multiply themselves. Not a few churches, not merely those associated in the great campaign just closed, but churches of every creed and denomination, will feel the impulse of this upward movement.

Hundreds of lives made good and thousands more made better; added thousands drawn together by common aspiration for higher things; scores of Christian organizations solidified, inspirited and strengthened, and all these striving in the one holy labor, must put a permanent moral and spiritual impress on the life of the city of Fort Wayne and all her people. Such a result—various, far-reaching, enduring—cannot be seen now nor in months. But the result is here potential and already working out.

Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, Mr. Charles W. Alexander and their able and consecrated assistants have done Fort Wayne in all ways a vast service. The plain gospel of Jesus Christ—the "old-time religion"—still has power as it always had to reach the great masses of the land. "The common people heard him gladly" then and so they do this day through the voices of the ministers of his word.

Senator Lodge may be the third New England reactionary of the upper branch of congress to retire with this term to private life. The senator professes great confidence, but the politicians say he is in great danger and Congressman Foss, who inaugurated and leads the fight on the senator, declares him already beaten. With Lodge's defeat, should it come, there would retire at the end of this session the foremost three eastern men in the senate—Aldrich, Hale and Lodge. To these add Burrows, of Michigan, and about as nifty a group of standpatters as ever raised a schedule stands confessed. Senator Lodge may yet pull through—but if he should he enters upon a career of new convictions. He has abandoned his reactionary tenets and declared himself for some things upon the tariff that would make him a help to future revisions. That his is an eleventh hour repentance is patent; but that he is so fully committed as to make retreat cowardly and himself execreable is true. If Henry Cabot Lodge remains in the senate it will be to represent a sentiment for which heretofore he has had only contempt.

Senator Frazier, of the senate subcommittee on elections, does not subscribe to the verdict that Mr. Lorimer's election was without taint. He has framed a minority report in which he sets forth for what it may be worth that it is proved by confessions that four men who voted for Lorimer received bribes paid them by three other men who voted for Lorimer. The Tennessee statesman considers that this circumstance, as ascertained by the subcommittee, at least raises such suspicion as makes the whitewashing schedule a bit premature.

American Folksongs

(New York Evening Post.)

More than ever before, the public seems to be interested in the folksongs of various countries and this interest is shared by the composers, who are as assiduous as their predecessors in weaving them into their scores, of which not infrequently they are the brightest jewels. At the same time, singers, players and lecturers find audiences eager to welcome them whenever folk music is their theme. This week daily opportunity has been provided to hear the Imperial Balalaika orchestra play the delightfully melancholy airs as well as the gay dance tunes of the Russian peasantry on their own instruments and next week Marcella Sembrich will give a recital devoted entirely to those musical wild flowers known as folksongs—a recital which will doubtless prove one of the most enjoyable events of the musical season.

As Mme. Sembrich sets the fashion in song recitals, she will have many imitators, but it is to be hoped that in one important respect her program will not be accepted as a model by others. While every European country is represented, there is not one of those genuine American folksongs that are dear to many millions of people throughout this country. Not only are they ignored, but in the announcement sent to the newspapers last week there is a certain defiant air which cannot be allowed to go unchallenged: "Mme. Sembrich, having set a scientific as well as an artistic standard, has chosen to pass over the popular minstrel songs of America, but to let such indubitable folksongs as 'Gai lon la' and 'Musieu Balnfo' stand for form in America."

The standard which excludes the popular songs of our Stephen Foster from the list of real folksongs cannot be accepted as "scientific." Dr. Hugo Riemann, the leading German theorist and lexicographer, defines the word "Volkslied" as "either a song which originated among the people (i. e., the poet and composer of which are no longer known, or one which has been adopted by the people; or, finally, one which is 'volksmassig,' i. e., simple and easily comprehended in melody and harmony." The Foster melodies are included under the second and third of these definitions as true folksongs; they have been adopted by the whole American people, and they are always simple in melody. To exclude them for the reason that their composer happens to be known, is an argument that can be reduced ad absurdum by a question: Suppose some antiquarian discovered that certain folksongs dear to the Germans for generations were composed by such and such an individual; would a single person in the whole empire cease to consider them folksongs? And if by some miracle the names of all the originators of these melodies were ascertained, would folksong cease to exist?

From every rational point of view Foster's popular melodies are genuine folksongs. In this species of music, as Wagner once wrote, "the word-poem and the tone-poem are one and the same thing: * * * separation of the two is inconceivable to those who sing them; they seem to belong together, like husband and wife." This is true of Foster's. He wrote his own poems as well as his melodies, and the words and music of such songs as "Way Down Upon the Suwanee River," "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground," "My Old Kentucky Home" are as closely allied as are the text and the music in Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde." Yet—and here is another point of identity with the originators of true folksongs—he was not a professional musician. Far from it. To save his life he could not have composed a symphony or a sonata, or even a short piece of pianoforte. His harmonies seldom go beyond the three most elementary chords—tonic, dominant and subdominant; and his melodies are so rich and satisfying in themselves that they give pleasure even without harmonies, which brings them under the definition of folksongs given by Berlioz. Of musical form Foster took no more thought than a canary. His songs give voice to the joys, sorrows, hopes and aspirations of a people rather than an individual;" they are songs created by the people—the folk—for he was one of them. If they are not folksongs, what under the sun are they? Some have called them by the German name "volksthumlich," which means conscious imitations of folksongs, like Schulz's "Lieder im Volkston;" but Foster did not consciously imitate the songs of his of any other country; he wrote what he did because his genius was built that way.

Not only are his songs—there are more than a hundred and fifty of them—genuine folksongs; they are genuinely American, too. On this phase of the subject, also, erroneous notions are still widely current. Thousands who sing his songs do not know who wrote them, or care; many other thousands think they are negro plantation songs. Now, Foster did visit the plantations and campmeetings of the black man to catch their idiom; he had to make his living by writing for the "negro minstrels," who at that time had practically a monopoly of the concert business; yet even those of his poems which he wrote in the negro dialect voice the general feelings of mankind rather than those of a particular race; and as for his melodies, they are as unlike true negro music as a Hungarian rhapsody is unlike a Berlin operatic aria. In every bar they betray his own individual genius, and that this individual genius was thoroughly American is indicated by the way in which the American people have taken them to heart—infinitely more than they have any imported folksongs. Apart from a national anthem, nothing arouses such intense enthusiasm in an American audience as the singing of one of these American folksongs. Indeed there is nothing quite like it in any foreign country.

We have become acustomed to foreign artists slighting the music of our country; but the omission of Foster from Mme. Sembrich's program is the unkindest cut of all. No doubt it is owing to a misunderstanding; yet none the less it is regrettable. However, no great harm will result. Foster's songs will survive this episode, and the American public may continue to bask in the fond conviction that not only are we not without folksongs, judged by the strictest scientific standard, but we have an abundance of them equaling the most precious of Europe's treasures. Had Foster lived before printing was invented, his songs would have been carried from mouth to mouth, as Dr. Martin Darkow has truly said. "The composer would have been forgotten, and the modern historians would have had occasion to place the American people themselves on the pedestal of the unknown poet-composer." Let us be thankful that the printer's art has made it possible for us to honor Foster individually—as the Germans honor Silcher for composing the "Lorelei," universally accepted as a folksong—while at the same time recognizing in his utterances the voice of the American people.

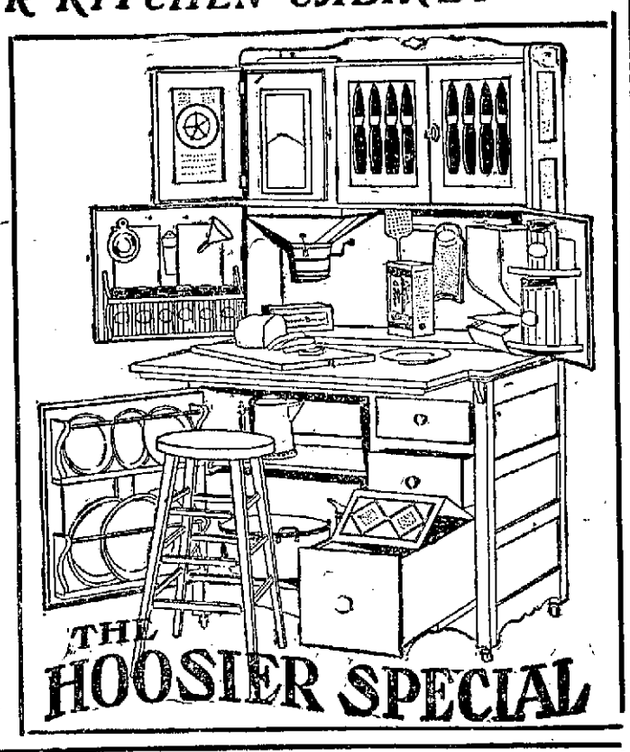
The Most Useful Christmas Gift in the World and One Your Wife Will Appreciate.

A HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINET

If you examine its wonderfully perfect construction, its careful craftsmanship, its waterproof finish, its three-ply paneling, its high grade oak stock, in addition to the fine details of its conveniences, you will understand why so many women rely on it with more certainty than on a favorite servant.

As one woman said: "It seems to hand things to you when you want them." A pure aluminum table top slides out conveniently; the flour bin is glass and metal; the handy glass jars are air tight; the sugar bin is pure rustproof metal; unique economy compartments peep out at you in the form of drawers and shelves. If it were not true that the Hoosier Special Kitchen Cabinet is the most useful gift a man can give to his wife, so many thousands of men would not buy these remarkable cabinets at Christmas time.



SPECIAL NOTICE—So many men buy Hoosier Kitchen Cabinets for their wives each year that it is almost imposible for Hoosier agents to get enough to go around.

We bought more this year than last—all we can get before Christmas. But whether or not we have enough we can't tell.

Part of our present stock is reserved already. Perhaps it would be better, therefore not to postpone your order if you really want one of these Christmas Hoosier Cabinets. There may be plenty. They MAY be sold out tomorrow. We suggest that the safer plan is to order cabinets immediately.

EARNEST WORDS OF EVANGELISTS

Rev. and Mrs. S. B. Shaw in Revival Meetings at Rescue Mission.

MEETING LAST NIGHT

Wonderfully earnest and effective as evangelistic workers are Rev. and Mrs. S. B. Shaw, of Grand Rapids Mich., who last night began a series of revival meetings at the Rescue Home and Mission, on East Columbia street, that will continue until Friday of this week.

It was not a Princess rink audience that listened to the two speakers as they told in their eloquent and forcible manner the story of the cross and the power of divine love to save the souls of men and women who were lost in sin, relating in their interesting way affecting incidents in proof of the truth. It was an audience that did not fill to its capacity the little mission. "But," said George I. Cooper, the superintendent of the mission, "souls were saved and Christ was in our midst."

Rev. Mr. Shaw spoke but briefly. The principal speaker at the meeting last evening was Mrs. Shaw. She is a cultured little woman, thoroughly evangelistic in her methods of address, but intensely interesting and with a magnetic power in reaching the hearts of her audience and winning souls.

"I love the mission work," she said. "Some of the greatest victories for God I ever witnessed were in the mission hall." And then speaking from the text, "For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost," she made her plea to the sinner to turn from his sinful ways and lay hold of the saving grace of Christ's atonement for the lost soul.

Rev. Mr. Shaw in his remarks spoke of the love of God and the sacrifice he had made for the salvation of sinners. He is an evangelistic speaker of rare power, logical and eloquent, having given most of his life to mission work. With his wife he has been spending the last few weeks at Syracuse, Ind., where they conducted a revival at which many were converted. Both Rev. and Mrs. Shaw will speak this evening, as they will also Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

The meeting of last evening was preceded with a song service during which Miss Carter sang a solo, "My Jesus, I Love Thee," a song, the words of which, clearly uttered and sung sweetly, had much to do with the intense spirituality that pervaded the meeting.

Supt. Cooper presided at the meeting and introduced the speakers. He spoke but briefly at its opening. He told of the meeting held at the mission Sunday night at which several were converted and speaking to the converts said: "I am a friend of your most prominent friend, the dearest friend you ever knew—the friend of sinners," and in closing spoke of the joy of the Christian life.

The East Columbia street mission, in its quiet way, is doing a most effective work in redeeming the fallen. It has turned many sinners into the right way of living and under the direction of Supt. Cooper it will continue this rescue work. With the Rev. and Mrs. Shaw assisting this week the mission meetings will be interesting and profitable.

CO-OPERATION OF CHURCHES.

Evangelist Favors Unity of Action in Christian Work.

Rev. S. B. Shaw, of Grand Rapids, Mich., who, with Mrs. Shaw, is conducting revival services this week at the Rescue Home and Mission on East Columbia street, is one of the leaders in the movement for the general convocation for prayer, the purpose of which is to secure co-operation in Christian and reform work. Mr. Shaw is the president of the convocation, and speaking along this line, he said:

"Evangelical Christians ought not to allow minor differences to prevent co-operation in these works. We cannot hope to see all believers united upon all points of doctrine and we should most earnestly strive for the unity of spirit. All great revivals of pure and undefiled religion have been in answer to prayer, prevailing prayer on the part of God's people."

FOLLOW-UP CAMPAIGN.

Interesting Meetings at West Jefferson Street Church of Christ.

The follow-up campaign meetings, the result of the Chapman-Alexander series of meetings, that are being conducted this week at the West Jefferson Street Church of Christ by Evangelists W. J. Lehman ad Howard Wade Kimsey are proving of great interest and profit in a spiritual way. The one held last evening was particularly so.

The singing was under the leadership of Mr. Kimsey, who has a bass voice of unusual richness. He sang a solo, "There Is a Green Hill Far Away," and delighted the audience. The sermon was delivered by Mr. Lahman, his theme being "Key Words of the New Life." It was replete with good thought and spiritual truths. The key notes of the new life emphasized were Christ, the risen Lord, Faith, Repentance, Forgiveness, Loyalty and Love.

The sermon was interesting throughout and the speaker held the close attention of the audience. The meetings will continue each evening, commencing at 7:45 o'clock.

MEETINGS START WELL.

The Revival Services Held at First M. E. Church.

Rev. J. K. Cecil, the pastor of the First M. E. church, delivered a sermon of interest and spiritual profit at the revival meeting held last evening at his church, the first of a series of meetings which will continue each evening this week. The theme of the sermon of Pastor Cecil this evening will be "The Hopeless Future."

Mr. Cecil is assisted in his services by Frank Dickson, one of the members of the Chapman-Alexander party, who was helping in the choir that sang at the Third church during the Chapman meetings. Mr. Dickson is a singer of rare power and as a choir leader has few equals. This evening Miss Mabel Carter will sing a solo.

There was a large attendance at the meeting last evening and the pastor and people are encouraged with the manner in which the campaign for souls starts out this week.

THE BETHEL CHURCH.

The Women's Missionary society of the Bethel church will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. A. Augspurger, 2817 Jane street, and all ladies who have not contributed their thank offering boxes are requested to bring them this evening.

The annual Sunday school election of officers will be held Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the rooms of the church.

Meeting for Mothers.

Mrs. S. B. Shaw, of Grand Rapids, Mich., who is the state evangelist of the W. C. T. U. for Michigan, will conduct a meeting for the mothers of the city at the First M. E. church on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and all the mothers of the city are invited. Mrs. Shaw is a wonderfully interesting speaker. She was heard last Sunday at the Trinity M. E. church.

The Berea Bible Class.

The regular monthly meeting of the Berea Bible class will be held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Stevens, 612 West Third street, at which the election of officers will take place. The class will hold a handkerchief bazar all day Friday in the Albersmyer drug store on Wells street. Homemade baking will also be sold.

Christmas Services.

The Trinity Episcopal church will celebrate Christmas with three eucharists, at 7:30, 9:30 and 10:45 a. m. The service at 9:30 will be a children's eucharist at which time communions may be made. It is the desire of the rector, Rev. E. W. Averill, that the 7:30 service be observed as a corporate commution of the entire parish.

Pontifical High Mass.

Rt. Rev. H. J. Alerding, the bishop of this diocese, who is at Lafayette, was this morning the celebrant at the pontifical high mass of thanksgiving opening the program of three days of the golden jubilee of the Sisters of St. Francis at the St. Elizabeth hospital in that city.

Bible Lectures Resumed.

Rev. T. P. Potts will resume his Bible lectures this evening at the Gospel Mission, 1217 Calhoun street. These lectures were held every Tuesday night, but were discontinued during the Chapman-Alexander meetings. They are very profitable and Rev. Potts has the faculty of making them interesting.

KENT TOOK SHOT TO SCARE BROWN

Calhoun Street Has An Early and Quiet Little Affray.

A BLOODLESS EVENT

Frank Kent, first assistant to Mrs. Laura Winans, who conducts the Commercial hotel on South Calhoun street, took a quiet shot at Harvey H. Brown early this morning and the affair did not reach the police until the man who had done the shooting reported it himself and asked to file surety of the peace proceedings against Brown.

Brown was at one time proprietor of the hotel and also husband to Mrs. Winans but he followed up a series of beatings with one so severe that he closed her eyes for a few days and a jury in the city court gave him a fine of $200 which he paid. The wife sued for and was granted a divorce and came into possession of the hotel.

Brown left the city and was gone for a time but for the last few weeks he has been prompted by jealousy and has been calling up both his former wife and Kent over the telephone and has made several threats to shoot the latter.

This prompted Kent to carry a revolver and this morning as he was returning from a trip to the grocery carrying a package of eggs Brown went after him.

"I pulled my revolver," said Kent "and told him to hold on a minute and he turned and ran. I fired once at him but did not try to hit him. I could have done it as easy as not but I didn't want to hurt him. He saw me sitting at a window not long ago and reached for his hip pockets and I think he wanted to shoot me then. He has threatened me several times and I have been carrying a revolver since."

Kent did not file the affidavit after the matter had been explained to him. He said he would think it over and there were no arrests. The whole affair was pulled off so quietly and at a time when there were so few people on the street that it caused little excitement.

LOGICAL REMEDY FOR ECZEMA

Many different remedies have been tried for Eczema and other skin diseases. But it is now known that the only possible cure is a mild, soothing liquid made up of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, Glycerine and other ingredients so carefully compounded that each ingredient has its proper effect.

This compound is now made up in the D. D. D. Prescription. Ten years of success and thousands of cures show the merit of this wonderful compound, but the most convincing proof is a trial of the remedy by any eczema sufferer.

Usual Request By Bostonian to a New York Hotel Proprietor.

(Louisville Courier-Journal.)

One of the large hotels in New York reports an order from a Bostonian for "two cool rooms." The order, placed in December, was sent by wire, that the prospective occupant of the rooms might be assured of getting what he wanted. The nature of the demand surprised the proprietors of one of the most thoroughly steam heated hotels in New York. The time may come when such an order will provoke less comment. Generally speaking, steam heat is not regulated, in hotels or other buildings, but just turned on. If the mercury goes down about zero the capacity of the heating plant may be necessary to keep the building comfortably warm. When the mercury rises 30 or 40 degrees the heating plant does business at the same stand and in the same way. The windows of the hotel bedroom may be opened, but they are not always so situated as to induce a draught of outside air through the room, and when the rest of the building is full of well baked air the "crank" who prefers his raw rather than well done is often unable to get it.

Amid the manifold luxuries of the modern hotel, with its mahogany furniture, its handsome woodwork, its ample supply of very hot and almost cold water, its telephone in every room, its bellboys who will almost hurry if there is a promise of a tip, its waiters who will let you eat for a consideration, its dignitaries who will let you "rest" your hat upon payment of a stipulated sum, its cold storage eggs in any style, its bewilderingly ample menu in two languages, its marble columns as lofty and impressive as the figures in its bill of particulars, it is not always possible to get a little of the out-of-doors air that is supposed to be free to the humblest, and is humorously spoken of as the only commodity not controlled by a trust. And so, "cool rooms" are ordered by wire in midwinter by the patron who disliked to be baked while he sleeps.

Steam heat is a great luxury, but it, like the building it heats, is too often overdone. The ubiquitous pneumonia germ looks with favor upon steam heat unregulated. It makes his possible victim tender and when he goes out into the storm he is easy prey. The stuffy bedroom is approved by the germs of influenza and tuberculosis, and other occasional squatters in the respiratory region. It is disapproved by 'cranks' and sanitarians.

A DISMAL SOCIAL FUNCTION.

Ralph Cameron, delegate in congress from the territory of Arizona, tells the story of the most lugubrious invitation ever sent through the mails. It was engraved on a white, gilt-edged card, and was signed by the sheriff of Tucson.

This is the way it read:

"The pleasure of your company is requested at the hanging of George Smiley, a murderer. His soul will be swung into eternity on Thursday evening. A brand new hemp rope will be used, and everything will be done to make the ceremony as cheerful as possible."—Popular Magazine.

SCHOONER'S CREW WELCOME BACK AS FROM THE DEAD

CREW OF THE PHINEAS W. SPRAGUE. ● JOHN SIMMONS, MATE.

New York, Dec. 20.—Out of the sea, her sails torn or gone, rigging missing and decks swept of all things movable, the Phineas W. Sprague, a three-masted schooner, posted days ago as "missing," is safe in port. At No. 815 St. John's place, Brooklyn, the wife of Capt. P. G. Simmons, master of the schooner, welcomed him as back from the dead, and at the maritime exchange there was general rejoicing when the news was known that the vessel was safe, after being overdue more than forty days.

The crew, worn and emaciated and on short rations—two slices of canned meat and a cup of tea each day for the last month, with no bread for the last two weeks—was barely able to work the schooner under the lee of Sandy Hook, where a tugboat took her in tow for Tremley Point, Perth Amboy, where her cargo of asphalt was to be discharged. Last night the men said that little Emily Rock, a 14-year-old girl, an orphan that Captain Simmons had brought from Saba Island, was a mascot that brought them through days and days of drenching seas and gales that again and again drove the schooner far to leeward and away from the American coast.

Our Faith in the Kranich & Bach Piano

For many years we have trusted our musical standing to a great extent to the Kranich & Bach Piano. We have given this instrument not only our personal guarantee, but our unqualified endorsement.

We have advised our closest friends and our most valued patrons to purchase a Kranich & Bach Piano if possible. And now after test of time, after years of constant usage, after the sales of hundreds of these wonderful instruments, we are proud to concede to them much of the credit for our success and standing among the musical people.

Every Kranich & Bach Piano we have ever sold has given satisfaction. Every purchaser has remained a friend of the house because every instrument has proven its worth by the service it renders and has backed up in every detail the splendid recommendation given it by our house.

Although the Kranich & Bach Piano costs a little more than other pianos, they cost less to keep, for the expense in the care of the making is paid back tenfold in the wear and in pleasure of ownership. Today we recommend the Kranich & Bach Piano if possible with greater confidence than ever, for every day of Kranich & Bach History adds just so much more to their wonderful reputation.

WARM WINTER NIGHTGOWN

BY MRS. JANE FORD.

7 SIZES 32 TO 44 BUST

Illustrative of a practical nightgown, that can be finished with a round, square or high neck, is the design pictured here. It is simple in construction and, therefore, easy to make, and will fit any woman whose bust measure is between thirty two and forty-four inches. Goods suitable for the development of the model comes in twenty-seven and thirty-six inch widths. Of the narrower fabric six and five-eighths yards will be needed to copy this gown for the average woman, while four and seven-eighths will be sufficient of the wider material.

To make this garment the regulation cotton weaves of longcloth, nainsook, cambric or lawn may be used, but if a woman prefers cotton flannel the design made from it will be warm and serviceable. This pattern has groups of small tucks stitched yoke depth, both back and front. These give a comfortable fulness without making the garment heavy. The quickest and easiest way to construct this nightgown is to cut out all the pieces and mark all perforations, etc., then remove and baste and stitch tucks. The under arm and shoulder seams should be finished with either a flat or French fell.

If the neck is high the collar must be made from a double piece of the goods, stitched around the outside edge and turned right side out. A second row of stitching should be made one-quarter of an inch from the edge. The collar should be joined to the garment with an ordinary seam that is faced down with a narrow bias strip of lawn.

If the neck is low it should be trimmed with a band of insertion or a frill of lace. The seams of the sleeves may be sewed and the fullness at the lower edge gathered to a cuff of the goods sufficiently large when finished so the hand can be slipped through easily.

At the top the sleeves should be gathered and placed according to the notches and directions on the pattern label. The armhole seams should be finished with a binding of bias lawn stitched in with the seam and hemmed down by hand. At this stage of development the garment should be tried on and the length at the lower edge adjusted before a hem is made.

Christmas Supper Easil Served for Thirty Guests

Cold Foods Prepared Day Before Xmas—Only One Hot Dish. Prepared in Chafing Dish, Necessary.

A woman who has but one maid need not hesitate about inviting twenty or thirty members of the family to a Christmas supper, for such festivity is really a simple, yet delightful one if the work is practically done a day before the function takes place.

The essential part of the supper consists in serving food which is prepared before the time of eating, and if the guests wait upon each other there is no need for any to be seated at a table. Seats are required, but they may be placed about the room.

The dining table to be used may be the sewing board. It is to be decorated with holly, of course, and if a spray of mistletoe is hung in the diningroom it will add to the gayety of the evening.

For food there should be cold meat and one hot dish. The latter can be easily managed by making it in a chafing dish, or two chafing dishes if there at many guests. One person is detailed to look after each chafing dish.

A whole ham, turkey or a roast looks better if it is let uncarved and garnished with holly.

It should be the duty of one of the merry guests to carve the turkey, etc. Thus, confusion is avoided when the food is served.

A salad of some sort should be on the table, and this one of the women may serve. Another woman should pour the coffee, that should be on a side table with cups and etceteras.

Soup is not necessary, and would cause another change of plates, which is undesirable.

However desirous all the company may be of helping to take the plates to the pantry after the meat course is eaten such work should be done by the hostess and a few assistants who have been specially requested to help. Nothing is more confusing than a roomful of persons trying to remove soiled dishes.

Christmas would not be Christmas to most persons without mince pies or plum puddings and ice cream. This means two different kinds of dessert on the table, and while they are being brought from the pantry the hostess can put on the table the plates required to eat them from.

The table should be laid before the guests arrive, and all the cold food should be in its places. Also chafing dishes should be ready to light. All this work may be done in the morning, so the hostess may rest before dressing to receive her guest.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE.

Stir into one cup boiling water one tablespoonful cornstarch dissolved in a little cold water. Cook until thickened and clear, then add one cupful sugar, a teaspoonful butter and the juice and grated rind of two lemons. Add the beaten yolks of three eggs and take from the fire. Have ready the bottom crust that has been baked, first prick with a fork to prevent blisters. Place the custard in the crust and bake for half an hour. When done take from the oven and spread over the top a meringue made from the stiffly whipped whites of the eggs and three tablespoonfuls sugar. Shut off the heat in the oven so it will be cool, giving the meringue plenty of time to rise, stiffen and color to a delicate gold.

LEMON PIE WITH TWO CRUSTS.

This is an old reliable recipe. Mix three even tablespoons of corn starch with one cup of sugar and turn into one and one-quarter cups of boiling water. Cook until thick, cool a little and add one large beaten egg, a rounding teaspoonful of butter and the juice and grated rind of one large lemon. Bake between two crusts or in one crust with a few narrow strips of paste laid across.

CARE OF KNIVES.

Knives should never be put into water, as it injures the handles. The blades may be placed upright in a mug of hot soda water, for in this way the handles will be kept dry. Should the handles come off, fix them again thus: Take powdered resin and mix it with a small quantity of powdered chalk, whiting or slaked lime. Fill the hole with the mixture, heat the shaft of the knife and ram it in. When cold it will be quite fast.

Oils Will Prevent Easily Served for Dry in Winter.

Cold Weather Takes Natural Oil from Scalp, so Artificial Lubricants Must Be Used.

Hair is affected almost as soon as the complexion by the advent of cold weather, because lower temperature dries the scalp oils, as it does those of the face, and when the tresses are dry to dress them gracefully, or have them stay in the lines desired is difficult. Therefore, in winter the locks must be softened by oils so they will be pliable and manageable. Many a woman who says she "can do nothing with her hair" would have less trouble if she would moisten in with a lotion made from a tablespoonful of glycerine to half a pint of water and ten drops of tincture of benzoin.

A few drops of this may be poured into the palm of one hand, the other wet, and then both rubbed over the head from forehead to about the middle. This lotion will hold in place the rebellious locks, and if applied frequently will prevent undue dryness without giving a greasy effect.

An oily tonic should be rubbed into the scalp weekly from the time autumn begins. Some scalps require the application more often, but a woman should have no difficulty in deciding such necessity.

A greasy tonic much liked by one of the best hair specialists I know is made by slowly pouring paraffin oil into the yolk of a raw egg, stirring all the time, as when making mayonnaise. When this paste is thick about a quarter of a teaspoonful of dry sulphur is stirred through, and a dram of tincture of cantharides is added. This is applied to the scalp with the finger tips, parting the hair frequently, that the tresses may not become greasy. This lotion is not suited to white or blond hair.

A mistaken idea many women have is that oily applications make the hair greasy. They do not, when the scalp requires them, unless the lotion is applied in undue quantity, which is, of course, useless.

In applying oil to the scalp there is precisely the same difference that exists in watering a plant judiciously and doing it so the soil becomes muddy. Without water the plant will die, but too much will also kill it. When oil is required the skin will take it as the soil soaks water.

MARGARET MIXTER.

BAND TRIMMING.

Now that bands are used so much as a trimming to gowns and as not every woman can indulge in these expensive garnitures, those with limited incomes may be interested in hearing how to make attractive looking bands at home for little expense.

To make a band five inches wide cut a strip of paper two inches wider (or seven inches) and sew to it three strappings of the material half an inch wide. One is sewn down the middle, the others an inch from either edge.

Next make tubing of the goods, or silk, and shirr it over a fairly thick cord.

Arrange this zigzag fashion between the strappings. Afterward cut away the paper. Yokes, belts and cuffs can all be fashioned in the same way.

RECIPES.

Parsnip Salad.

Scrape three medium sized parsnips and cut into thin slices. Cover with boiling water and simmer for fifteen minutes; drain and dry. Dredge each slice with flour and fry golden brown in a little butter; drain on paper and set aside until cold. Arrange in a heap in the center of a dish, press some finely chopped boiled ham into little balls and arrange them round the parsnips, alternating them with hard boiled eggs cut in half. Garnish with cress and serve with Remoulade Sauce.

Put the yolks of three hard boiled eggs in a bowl and mash or pound very smooth. Add to them a pinch of dry mustard, salt and cayenne to taste, and one teaspoonful of tarragon vinegar. Work in very gradually three tablespoonfuls of olive oil, then the yolk of a raw egg, being careful to stir only in one direction to prevent curdling. Now add gradually two teaspoonfuls more of the vinegar and serve at once.

A Christmas Present
THAT
Brings Pleasure the Year Round
FURNITURE FOR YOUR HOME

IT IS AN OFT-REPEATED SAYING that "a dollar saved is a dollar earned." This is true. At the season of Christmas giving there is no doubt a great deal of money is actually wasted in gifts that carry with them only passing pleasure. They are soon forgotten because of their uselessness. Dollars spent that way are wasted.

BUY A SENSIBLE GIFT The home always needs something to make it more attractive, more cosy and cheerful, therefore when you plan your Christmas giving have the wisdom of looking into future happiness—for all the year and future years—not merely for a passing day or week.

PAPE'S IS THE QUALITY STORE There you find the goods with a reputation back of them. You will find no shoddy there. Only those who have made a tour of this establishment, with its four floors and 25,000 feet of floor space can form any adequate idea of the magnitude or variety of the stock. The best examples of Furniture and Rugs are displayed and the name of the Pape Furniture Company is behind every article sold.

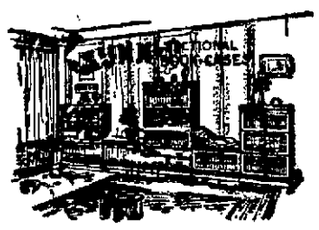
Here are a few suggestions for Christmas:

The Parlor

We have the most exquisite collection of Parlor Furniture in the city. The latest productions in the arts and crafts are here. If looking for this class of goods do not fail to see our Loose Cushion Parlor Suites in mahogany and imitation. These goods are very popular and the newest creations in parlor furniture.

It's Economy to Buy Rugs at This Store

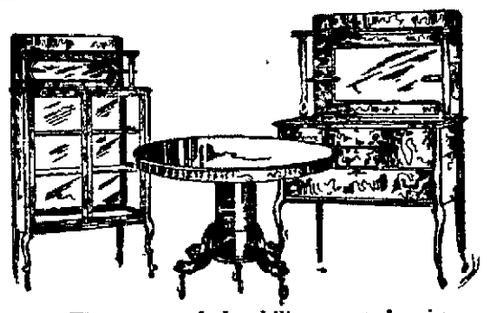
Not only do we feature the best products of the United States' manufacturer, but we always sell at a fair, equitable price. We have Rugs in all sizes and if you are going to make a purchase of this kind do not fail to look over our very choice collection. We will show you Lomonds, Axminsters, Wiltons, Wilton Velvets and Brussels in all their splendor from the looms. Don't miss our rug department.



The Living Room and Library

The room we live in. The pleasantest hours of the home are spent here. Then look around and you will find that something is needed to make that room complete. Perhaps it is a Couch, or a Rocker, or a Lady's Desk. Maybe a Library Table is needed in this room, or a Book Case. We can show you Couches and Easy Chairs in genuine leather; Couches also in velours, plush, tapestry or pantasote. Our line of Davenports, too, is worthy of your inspection when selecting furniture.

We are agents for the GUNN Sectional Cases—carry a stock and invite inspection. We guarantee them perfect in all respects and prices no higher than inferior makes.



The Dining Room

Elegance and durability are twin virtues—always to be found in the Pape Furniture. The stock is so choice, so varied, so abundant that a selection of furniture for a well appointed dining room is accomplished without any tedious delays, and in such a wide range of prices that the most exacting wants can be quickly supplied.

A large and very choice selection of Dining Room Furniture in all woods, Sideboards, Buffets, Tables, Serving Tables, Chairs, etc.

The Bed Room

Explore Ruins of A Modern Pompeii

Strange Discoveries Made in the Ruins of San Francisco—Science Takes Notice.

(Louis J. Stellman in the Los Angeles Times.)

Thousands have written of the relics found within the ruins of Pompeii and other old world cities; hundreds have risked their lives to excavate in Egypt and the museums of the earth teem with their findings, which are daily viewed in awe-struck interest by the passing throng—but how many know or even guess of the marvels that have been unearthed from San Francisco's fallen walls?

While the Egyptologist desecrates the tombs of ancient Pharaohs, under the Aegis of prime ministers and kings, receiving often knighthood for his pains, the San Francisco relic hunter works in darkness and in fear of the police. Yet the latter's findings are in many ways more wonderful than the former's.

I will tell you of a little army that makes its living, secretly, under the stigma of "looter" and under the ban of the law, risking life and limb from falling walls and imprisonment as well. I do not defend their code of morals nor descry the ordinance which makes them breakers of the law. Both are good enough in their way and neither is of special interest to the public—but the results are of sufficient moment to attract the world.

Nor are the relics found in San Francisco's ruins merely such as may be classified under the head of curiosities. Many of them may be of wonderful value to scientists. There is for instance, the case of the milk bottle, which threatens to reveal to local chemists the carefully guarded secret of how to make Bohemian glass. This wonderful vitreous product with its beautiful opalescent tint and remarkable toughness is almost worth its weight in gold, merely because the secret of its manufacture is known to a very few whose output is limited and whose lives for many generations have been devoted to guarding the recipe discovered by the ancient glassmakers of Hungary. For more than a hundred years every effort to learn the secret of its composition has proved vain—and now a common quart milk bottle dug from the ruins on Powell street may give it to the world.

Hope to Solve Problem.

The bottle was not even broken. The milk within it, in some mysterious manner, slowly evaporated and then the bottle was warped out of shape by the heat. But, instead of the clear glass of commerce used by milk venders, this bottle has now the creamy, opal tint of the choicest and almost priceless vases fashioned of Bohemian glass. Chemists have examined and tested it and declare it in every way identical with Hungary's famous product. It has long been suspected that milk was used in the composition of this glass, but in what manner none could ascertain. Now experiments are under way by which ordinary glass will be subjected to a treatment or process similar to that which the milk bottle must have undergone. The result may soon be announced, as several different chemists whose interests are in no way allied, have taken up the problem with every hope of success.

Another relic which may be of use to glassmakers is a common half-pint bottle which may have contained anything from glycerine to Zinfandel and which, doubtless, by the action of the fluid it contained, was bleached to a pure and dazzling whiteness. A new and valuable process in the manufacture of ornamental glassware or in the science of chemical reaction may be gained through this relic. There is also a third relic of glass, represented by a common, pressed glass sugar bowl of small size, which the action of smoke, heat, ashes or some other factor connected with the conflagration, has changed into a granite-like stone. Just what lesson, if any, may be gleaned from this relic, it is difficult to say, but the result, physical scientists declare, is a remarkable thing.

Phenomenal Curiosity.

The most wonderful find thus far recorded, however, is the body of a pigeon, perfectly preserved, not a feather ruffled, the colors of its plumage undimmed and looking as lifelike as though preserved by the most expert taxidermist in the land. This phenomenal curiosity was found beneath a massive fallen wall in Fish alley, Chinatown, by three responsible persons who vouch for the manner of its discovery. It is now in the possession of Mrs. Wong Sun Yue, a former society woman and sister-in-law of the New York millionaire, Howard Gould. Some years ago she startled the world by marrying a Chinese merchant whom she met and learned to love while doing rescue work among the San Francisco Chinese. Her little shop near the oriental quarter contains many strange things found after the fire.

Many theories have been advanced concerning the marvelous preservation of the pigeon's body, but none satisfactorily explained the miracle. The body is light as a feather and there is not the slightest sign of disintegration anywhere present. The eyes are open and the legs, though drawn close to the body, show perfect claws, in a natural position. It is thought that the bird was suffocated by smoke and cured in some manner by this and the ash in which the body reposed. How the feathers escaped even so much as a singeing, however, seems inexplicable. The theory that the bird was stuffed before the fire has been disproved by taxidermists who minutely examined it and declare its preservation due to some process even more perfect than their own.

A curious thing dug from the ruins of a Chinese bank is an object which at first looks like a rather large boulder of rock with hundreds of substrata showing along its face. Closer examination, however, discloses the fact that several thousand Chinese coins are welded together into an almost solid piece. These coins are made of copper and strung like beads on a string through a hole in the center of each. The process of welding had to take place two or three thousand times to make this relic, and, though the coins are of small denomination, and, as a total, do not represent a fortune, considerable money has already been offered the owner for the collection as a relic of the fire.

Catarrh Vanishes

Etxra Size.

Go to Meyer Bros. Co. today and tell them you want a Hyomei outfit (pronounce it High-o-me.)

Open the box and inside you will find a bottle of HYOMEI and a hard rubber inhaler.

Inside this inhaler, which opens at both ends, you will find some antiseptic gauze.

Pour a few drops of HYOMEI into the inhaler and saturate the gauze. Then with both ends of the inhaler open, breathe HYOMEI, and the destruction of pernicious catarrh germs begins at once.

You can breathe HYOMEI through either the nose or mouth. Read the directions.

Hyomei is made from Australian Encalyptus and mixed with other important antiseptics, and the greatest, most sensible and pleasant treatment for catarrh ever known.

Just breathe it; no stomach dosing; no sprays or douches, this great antiseptic air soothes the mucous membrane and kills all germs.

Complete outfit, $1.00. Extra bottle if afterward needed, only 50c. Money back from Meyer Bros. Co. or leading druggists everywhere, if it doesn't cure catarrh, coughs, colds, croup and sore throat.

In the Bowser Bowling league the Costs are at the top of the heap in the club standings, but they are there by a mighty small margin, as the Accountants are giving them a merry chase and are within one game of the leadership. The Shippers are third but have a lot of ground to cover to hall the two leading clubs.

Denner, of the Shipping department five, is leader in individual work with an average for twenty-five games of 178, and is eight points ahead of Walker, the only bowler who is giving him a battle for the position at the head of the procession. Roberts scored 222 in one of his games and has the high score of the league and the Cost department team holds high club score with 903. Denner's average of 195 for one series is best and the high average for a series is held by the accounting bowlers with 855. The individual averages are as follows:

SCHULZ TO PLAY AGAIN.

"Germany" Schulz left today for Memphis, Tenn., where he will become a member of a football eleven selected to meet an All-Harvard club for the benefit of the United Charities association. He was asked by Coach Yost to join the squad on account of the renown he achieved as the greatest center the world ever knew in his college days at Michigan. Dave Allerdice will play on the same team.

New Company Not Willing to Pay So Much for the Holdings.

NO DEAL IS LIKELY

Wheeling, W. Va., Dec. 20.—While W. W. Irwin and B. F. Perkins, who own the greater part of the stock of the Wheeling Baseball association, are willing to sell out to an acceptable purchaser or to any set of men who will carry on the business in accordance with the desires of the other owners in the Central league, they do not propose to sacrifice what they consider valuable property and for that reason they are still the owners and likely to remain so.

They are shrewd business men and are certain that there is one or two things for them to do. The first is to sell at a sacrifice and the second is to invest enough money to build up a club that will make a showing in the pennant race next season.

If they can succeed in the latter venture they can command a better price next season and can reasonable expect to get it. If there is any real sentiment here against the present owners it is rather the outgrowth of losing baseball than of any personal dislike for either of the owners. They are successful business men and are amply able to finance the club. They may be prompted next year to go out and get the players and win and if they do that all the things that have accumulated against them will be forgotten and they will be hailed as the best in the business.

The best offer that has been made public is $4,000 and the owners want $12,000. This leaves such a big gap between the price sought and that offered that there seems little hope of a compromise, but something will be done at any rate to give Wheeling a better standing in baseball.

In the first place the boosters will organize and will help out the attendance and if this spirit is manifested with sufficient force to encourage the owners they may respond with all of the things that are needed to make baseball here a success.

One of the chief demands is a good park. On the island the club has a fine ground but a bad diamond. Some paint on the fences and greatly improved stands and some new bleachers are needed to put the lot in line with the others on the Central league circuit.

All hopes of a sale of the club have not been abandoned. The owners want to get out, not because they are tired out because they think the public is tired of them. They admit this freely and with this feeling in the camp the deal may eventually be consummated, although the prospect is not bright at this time.

LEEVER IN AIRSHIP BUSINESS.

Veteran Pitcher of Pirates Branches Out in New Line.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 20.—Fans here were somewhat startled last evening when it was announced that "Sam" Leever, the veteran pitcher of the Pirates, had entered the airship business and was arranging for the formation of a company to put on the market an airship on new lines. He has invented an air craft at his home at Goshen, Ohio.

The news was conveyed to several friends of Leever to whom he had written with a view of having them interested in his invention. It was at once concluded by his admirers that the veteran was making the first announcement of his intention in the near future to resign from the team.

During the airship flights from the Forbes field last season Leever was one of the constant attendants and one of the most inquisitive of visitors. No detail escaped him and he assisted in several flights. He is an expert mechanician.

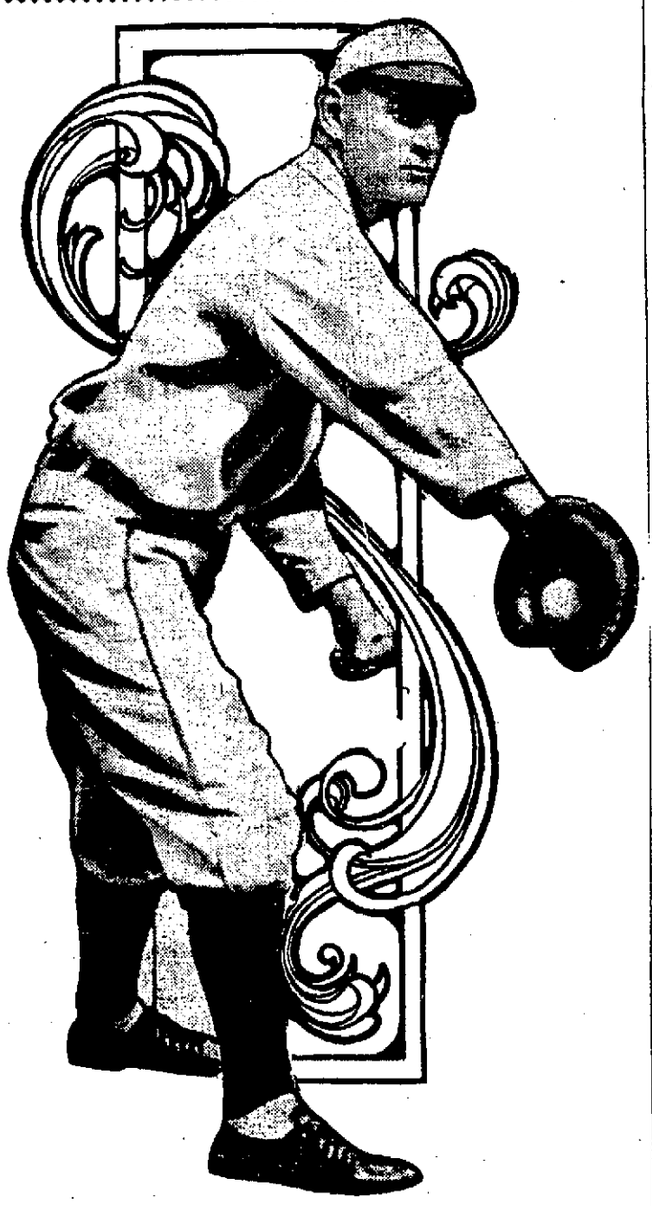
Red's Catcher Has Four Turks Arrested for Following Him.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 20.—Larry McLean, the catcher for the Reds, had John Mendekenns and three other Turks arrested for following him about the streets. He says they have been following him for the last month or more and that he was afraid they might have something in mind which might not coincide with his diamond plans next summer. Mendekenns has been arrested here before for embezzlement and was on bond.

Veteran to Manage Pilgrims



FRED TENNEY.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 20.—Fred Tenney will manage the Doves next season, notwithstanding Fred Lake will receive a year's salary of $5,000 in 1911. The directors of the Boston National league club have conferred with Tenney and Lake, and after a meeting President William Hepburn Russell made the following statement:

"The directors all like Lake very much, and had it not been for negotiations made previous to the change of ownership no change would have been made in the management. Mr. Tenney has been of great service when the negotiations to buy the club were in progress. The directors do not agree in having divided authority. Lake and Tenney agree to this. The directors decided that the manager of the club for 1911 should be Fred Tenney.

"Mr. Lake's contract, which calls for $5,000 salary for 1911, will be lived up to in every particular and the money will be paid in accordance with the contract, unless at Mr. Lake's own request the contract is terminated. Lake will remain connected with the team as an adviser until the termination of his contract."

Fred Lake said: "I am perfectly satisfied."

Devore Turns Down a Nice Bunch of Easy Winter Coin

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 20.—Josh Devore, famous young ball player, is the kind of a fellow a manager likes to have around. Josh is in the game for the money like all the rest of them but he is conscientious and a hard worker. The latest example of his loyalty to his club is his decision to turn down a tempting offer to play indoor baseball in the east this winter.

Josh, along with the "Peerless Matty" Mathewson, Fred Merkle and Larry Doyle, received a flattering offer to play indoor baseball this winter. Games were to be played in New York, Buffalo and other eastern cities. The salary was large, the work easy, and the trip worth taking. However, Josh came to the conclusion he ought to turn it down.

Why? Well, Josh said himself:

"I'm afraid McGraw wouldn't like it."

Wouldn't that freeze your pipes? How many ball players would turn down a glass of suds, not to mention a fat easy job, just because the manager wouldn't "like it?"

"It's this way," explained Josh. "You see my legs are my fortune. I am pretty fast and indoor baseball is hard on your legs. Mathewson could pitch, and Doyle and Merkle might get along all right, but if I hurt my legs running around on those wood floors, it might hurt my chances. I know McGraw wouldn't like it and I am just goin' to hang around Scelyville this winter."

Devore is owned by the New York National league club. He is only 23 years old, but he is considered one of the most valuable players in the game. And that goes. Neither Wagner, Cobb, Lajoie, Mager, Snodgrass, Bush, Brown, Mathewson, Ford, or any of the famous ones had anything on Josh last season. He hit .307, ran bases like a fiend, and played the outfield in real Tommy Leach style.

Josh didn't find his batting eye until along about the last two months of the season and then he began to murder the pill. When Snodgrass, Murray and Doyle slumped, Josh slung the ball at a .350 clip. Had his early average been decent he would have finished with a remarkable figure. Doyle's work in the post-season series between the Giants and the Yankees helped Mathewson to win his games.

Only a few years ago Devore was delivering groceries around Burnett, Ind. Then Guy Sample picked him up and took him south. Guy fired him half a dozen times but always gave him another chance. Devore gradually learned the game and besides stealing three and four sacks per game, he began to hit the ball. Then Sample recommended him to McGraw and Muggsy bought him.

SHRYOCK THINKS MONEY IS READY

Zanesville Meeting to Be Held in Course of Few Weeks.

OUTLOOK IS GOOD

Zanesville, O., Dec. 20.—C. U. Shryock, upon whose shoulders baseball affairs have fallen since the close of last season, has given Dr. F. R. Carson, president of the Central league, the assurance that the local club will not only stick next season but that it will be fully financed and that none of the troubles that have heretofore been encountered will bob up in 1911.

Mr. Shryock has not divulged his plans here at home, but he is known as a business man who would hardly hold out such assurances to the head of the league unless he knew what he was talking about and it is generally conceded that he has something up his sleeve for the public meeting to be held on Monday, January 2.

In order to get into the field in proper shape it is imperative that some definite action be taken at this meeting because the club is not equipped to go into the field and even now it will be a difficult task to get hold of players to bolster up the club.

In the loss of Kenworthy the team is badly crippled because he was not only a tower of strength in the box but he was a pinch hitter par excellence, a man always willing to play any place any time and it is reasonably certain that he will stick with Jack Hendricks at Denver next season where he will probably play the outfield as he hits too well to be a regular hurler.

Veazy may be returned to the local club as he has had insufficient experience to stick in the big show and he and Joe Connolly ought to make a couple of valuable men. Jones showed in good form and will also help out, but two pitchers of experience will be needed.

First base is pretty well taken care of with Hugo Swartling on the bag in spite of his weakness with the stick, and Prysock, Crowder and Herald are available for the other infield positions, but the club must get rid of at least one of them for a man who can hit. There is the principal weakness of the infield aggregation. There is not a dependable sticker in the lot and one man who could waller the ball regularly with the others hitting up to their usual standard would make a pretty fair lot to open with.

If Roy Montgomery sticks as manager he can fill one of the outfield positions, but one fast player is needed to play with him and Bill Hillinger. The catching staff will have to be improved. Mickey O'Brien came along in great style at the close of the season and hit the ball hard and ran bases in good shape. He will do for one of the catchers but Bob Bergrove has not had the experience and a better man than he is will be needed. Of course, it will take some money to bolster up the club, but there is a hopeful feeling here that all will be right and that the club of next season will start on a better financial basis than any of the clubs that have represented this city in the Central league.

Don't study what he wants for Xmas. A box of Kim or Fort Wayne Guard Cigars will make a fine present.

PATTERSON PICKS A TEAM.

All-Western Eleven Takes in the Big College Players.

Patterson's All-Western Eleven.

End—Wells, Michigan.
Tackle—Walker, Minnesota.
Guard—Benbrook, Michigan.
Center—Twist, Illinois.
Guard—Butzer, Illinois.
Tackle—Dutter, Indiana.
End—Seiler, Illinois.
Quarter back—McGovern, Minnesota.
Half back—Masideohn, Michigan.
Half back—Rosenwald, Minnesota.
Full back—Johnston, Minnesota.

In the coming issue of Collier's Weekly E. C. Patterson has selected an All-Western football eleven, and in ranking the various western teams he awards Michigan the undisputed western championship by virtue of the Wolverines' victory over Minnesota, while the Gophers are ranked second and Illinois third. In selecting his all-star eleven Collier's critic has picked three Michigan players, and of whom—Benbrook—has been classed with such gridiron stars as Heffelfinger, Glass and Hare. Following are extracts from Patterson's article.

To Michigan must be awarded the western football championship for 1910. Coming next to Michigan is Minnesota. It is impossible to give Illinois a position better than third place, even though that eleven went through the season without a defeat. If the western football schedule had brought Michigan and Illinois together the seemingly impossible might have happened. Illinois might have beaten Michigan, but those who watched the playing of the two teams could see nothing which might indicate that Illinois had the slightest chance to beat Yost's eleven.

DOG AS XMAS PRESENT.

Dr. Carson Awaits Arrival of Ayrdale Terrier From East.

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 20.—There was nothing doing in the baseball line at league headquarters today, but President Carson reports the expected receipt of a sporty Christmas present from the east some time this week. The present is a fine 2-year-old Ayrdale terrier, valued at $500, and has been shipped to Dr. Carson by a baseball man of Massachusetts. An Ayrdale terrier is one of the ugliest dogs in existence, but also one of the most intelligent. The canine in question is also yellow, but in color only, for he is one of the most dangerous fighters in the dog world.

The magnates have taken no notice of the suggestion made by Garry Herrmann some weeks ago that official scorers be appointed for the two big leagues by the National commission. The club owners seem inclined to favor appointing their own scorers.

A. Bert Semmens, Cub trainer, who was to have staged a club house scene after a losing game, has abandoned the scheme, as it requires too many characters to get them all on the stage at the same time. The act also would require too long a time in a vaudeville schedule.

The longest spring training trip ever undertaken by a major league baseball team is indicated for the Boston American players in preparation for the championship of 1911 by the itinerary of the trip announced today. The actual training will be done at a health resort between San Francisco and Los Angeles and subsequent practice games on the return trip east, in which the squad will split into two teams, will be played in eight states.

It is said President Comiskey of the White Sox was the man who really put the skids under Bob Hedges and caused the latter to decide to sell out his holdings in the Browns. Hedges attempted to get Fielder Jones to succeed Jack O'Connor as manager last year. Fielder would not return unless he could come in as a part owner and then Hedges tried to buy up some stock for the former Sox manager. Hedges didn't consult Commy, despite the fact that Jones is still under reservation by the White Sox. This caused bitter feeling between Comiskey and Hedges.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Charley Taft, the president's younger son, is home for the holidays and things have begun to happen around the white house. Yesterday Charley rummaged through the attic at the executive office and ran across a model of an aeroplane which had been sent to the president. The model is perfect in every detail with the exception of the engine, which is a "dummy." Charley thinks the aeroplane will glide if it gets a good start and he probably will give it a trial from the white house roof. Charley also took a turn at the white house telephone switchboard and acted as chief operator for an hour or more.

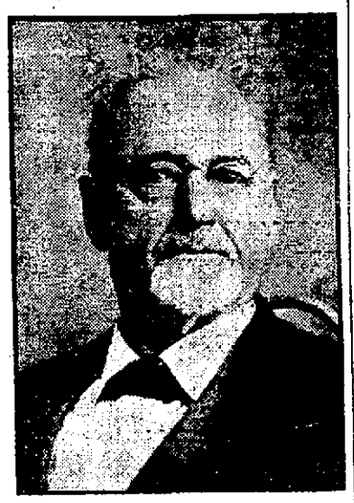
SUMMONS COMES TO MILO BEARD

Well Known Farmer Dies Suddenly, Seated in His Chair.

WAS 86 YEARS OF AGE

After an illness of but half an hour, Milo Beard, a well known Wayne township citizen, died at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening at his home on the upper Huntington road, eight miles west of Fort Wayne. Death came



MILO BEARD,
Well Known Farmer Whose Death Came Suddenly.

suddenly, for the aged man had been about during the day, and he expired seated in his chair. Coroner Kesler, who was called in the case, ascribed the death to heart disease superinduced by gastritis.

Mr. Beard was 86 years of age. He was born near Youngstown, O., October 14, 1825, and came to Allen county in 1865, locating upon the farm where his death occurred. He had been married three times, two wives having died in Ohio before his removal to this county, and the third some twenty years ago. He was a most estimable citizen, had served on the board of review and taken an active interest in public affairs. Politically Mr. Beard was a democrat. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and of Summit City lodge of Masons. Surviving relatives include two sons — John Beard, of Spencerville, O.; Andrew W. Beard, who lived with his father; two stepchildren, Henry Meeker, of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Henry Barick, of Tipton, Mo., besides several children and grandchildren.

Funeral services will probably be held on Thursday under the direction of the Masonic fraternity, with interment at Prairie Grove.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Steiger.—funeral services for Mrs. Barbara Steiger will be held Wednesday morning at 8:15 o'clock from the residence, Reynolds street and Beechwood avenue, and at 9 o'clock from St. Mary's Catholic church.

Kissinger. — Funeral services for John A. Kissinger will be held Wednesday at 12 o'clock from the residence; interment at Eel River cemetery.

McQuiston.—The funeral of William H. McQuiston will occur Wednesday, 10 o'clock a. m., at the residence, 1724 Hench street, Rev. Henry B. Master officiating; interment at Huntertown. William H. McQuiston was the son of John and Eliza McQuiston, and was born on the old farm in Perry township, Allen county, June 28, 1840. During the existence of the Christian Orff Dry Good company he served in the capacity of cashier and bookkeeper for quite a number of years and during that period married Melvina R. Mahurin, whose death occurred a number of years ago. Shortly after his marriage he moved to Auburn, where for a greater portion of his life he conducted a mercantile business, and later the Auburn Church Furniture company. Since the death of his wife he has made his residence in Fort Wayne, living with an invalid sister, Miss Jane McQuiston, also four brothers, Wilson, Allen, Ben and Edward McQuiston, who survive him. Lieutenant Charles McQuiston, of the United States army, who lost his life in the Philippines, was also a brother.

RENZ.

Mrs. Adaline Renz, widow of Adam Renez, 79 years of age, died at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning at her home, 729 Washington boulevard east, after an extended illness from dropsical complications.

Mrs. Renz was born in Germany, came to America when but 6 years of age, and had lived in Fort Wayne since 1854. She was united in marriage in the old St. Mary's Catholic church May 10, 1862, to Adam Renz, whose death occurred in 1908. One son survives—Alex J. Renz, employed as a clerk at Wolf & Dessauer's.

Mrs. Renz was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church and of the Rosary and Altar societies. She was especially devoted to the cause of the orphans, and her life had been one of the loftiest Christian womanhood. Funeral announcement will be made later, and it is requested that friends omit flowers.

POULTRY SHOW IS TO END TONIGHT

Big Exposition of Fine Fowl Will Continue All the Evening.

NO BIRDS REMOVED

The Allen County Poultry Fanciers' annual poultry show, which has been in full swing since the morning of December 15, when the doors were opened on one of the finest exhibitions of birds ever held in this city, will close tonight with the record of being the most successful show ever held by the association, both in point of entries and attendance. Both the officials of the association and the breeders entered, express the utmost satisfaction with the showing that has been made, which has been a revelation to many a poultry fancier who has passed through the doors and viewed the feathered inhabitants. While 9 o'clock has been designated as the hour for closing the doors will remain open after this hour, as this hour was only designated for the benefit of breeders, if they desired to remove their entries after 9 o'clock, as no entries will be allowed to be removed before that time.

While a good many breeders have been disappointed in the competition for the awards, not one kick has been registered on the result of the judging, whether they have won or lost. This has been brought about by the fact that the entries are of a high class, and from the first every breeder has realized that the competition was going to be unusually strong. Judge Hoover, who has been judging the birds the last four days, states that the show has been one of the best quality shows of the season, and that the management deserves the support of every one interested in fancy birds.

One feature that has marked the show has been the absence of sickness among the birds entered.

AT THE MAJESTIC

THE KEITH STOCK COMPANY.

The Company Is a Strong One and Is Worthy of Fort Wayne's Patronage—Fine Gowns Are Worn.

The Keith Stock company has come, played and conquered. Play-goers at the Majestic theater filled the house on Monday night expecting an invasion of the popular priced drama, but they were delightfully surprised at the performance given by the Keith Stock company.

Aside from giving something different from the old-fashioned stereotyped dramas with which we have become familiar under a variety of names, they produced a high-class royalty play entitled "It's Never Too Late to Mend," a pleasing, yet thrilling comedy drama, with as full an equipment of scenery and expensive dressing as we are accustomed to seeing with the high priced attractions.

The play was acted in a superb manner and the popular players were greeted with rounds of applause, while the "villains" and "plotters" were hissed to the echo.

First to deserve mention is Cato S. Keith, the leading comedian of the company. He is truly a funny comedian of the highest order, and he kept the audience in constant spasms of laughter.

Bessie Warren played the difficult part of Mrs. Dexter Harcourt in a most finished manner. She wore some exquisite gowns. Arnold C. Baldwin showed himself above the average of the stock leading men and drew the favor of the audience at every crucial point. Ruth Amos, as Audry, was exceptionally clever and won many pretty compliments for the grace and ease with which she played the part. Joe Berry as Jarvis Blane and R. E. Brown as Jim Bales gave very good characterization. Edward Mokelke did unusually clever acting as the old millionaire. The balance of the company acquitted themselves most creditably.

The specialties were unusually good. Luella Pullen, the little girl with the big voice; Ruth Amos, the sweet singer; George Rowley, the champion boy dancer; Frank Clayton, eccentric musical and monologue comedian; Cato S. Keith, talkist, and Charles Hammond, hoop-roller and balad singer, entertained the audience during the intermissions.

For tonight they announce "My Jim," or "A Country Boy in New York," a whole-souled rural play on the "Way Down East" type, but stronger and better. A story that gets down into one's heart and leaves a lasting impression on one's mind. Lots of clean, good comedy to relieve the strong dramatic situations. Complete change of vaudeville.

DAUGHTERS WORTH WHILE.

Hagerstown, Ind.—The Misses Lona and Vera Flemming, both college graduates and accomplished musicians, set the pace among their young friends for active and earnest work. Their parents live on a farm near here, and the father, finding it impossible to obtain help to harvest his corn, was relieved of his dilemma by the determination of the girls each to make a hand in the field. Donning male attire they went to the barn, harnessed and hitched the horses to the wagon, and were in the field at daybreak, husking until dark, and they did this every morning for a month, not giving up the work until every ear of corn was gathered. The girls' heaviest day's work was 100 bushels. They averaged 80 bushels a day.—Indianapolis News.

MISS GOULD TO WED A BRITISH LORD.

The engagement has just been announced in London of Lord Decies and Miss Vivien Gould, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gould, of New York.

Lord Decies, John Graham Hope Horsleey-Beresford, is the fifth Baron Decies. He succeeded to the title a short time ago through the death of his elder brother. He was born December 5, 1866. He is a lieutenant colonel of the Seventh Hussars and a member of the Distinguished Service Order. He has fought in many campaigns, serving against the Mad Mullah in Somaliland, in the Matabele war and the Boer war. Beside being a polo player he has distinguished himself as a cricketer and is keenly interested in hunting and racing.

ART SWINDLERS ON TRIAL.

"Count" and "Countess" De Gatingy in Court at Tours.

Tours, France, Dec. 20.—The trial of the self-styled "Count" and "Countess" De Gatingy, who are charged with having swindled the Duchess de Choiseul out of $200,000 in the sale of spurious masterpieces, opened before Judge Roberts in the correctional court today. The complainant was the widow of Charles Hamilton Paine, of Boston, and who recently married the duke de Choiseul, whose mother was Mary, daughter of Malcolm Forbes, of Boston.

In addition to the principal allegation, D'aulby de Gatingy is accused of stealing a sum of money from the pocketbook of the complainant during her stay in Vienna.

The trial attracted a large and fashionable crowd as the public is intensely interested in the fate of the two who lived so luxuriously.

M. Plumon and M. Sturel appeared for the duchess and Frederic Allain and M. Bonard for the accused. The "countess" was formerly Miss Francisca Monti Lunt, of Boston. The two were married at Trinity church in that city in 1894.

SHIELDS

MONUMENT TO THE MAMMIES.

We who still linger would love to see a granite monument to the memory of the dear mammy who fostered our childhood. Our grandchildren—indeed, or children—will never know the kind of mammies their ancestors were blessed with.

Let us have one, before the last of us who had a black mammy passes away. Every family in those dear old days had a black mammy. Those of us left on this bleak shore, with only the sweet memory of our mammy to cherish, ought to feel there is a monument of granite, among the countless monuments in bronze and marble, celebrating the distinguished services of our great men, a monument of enduring granite, to publish to the world the loving, faithful deeds of the black women of the day now gone, never to return. My Mammy Charlotte had complete charge of everything about the house. She had been thoroughly trained by my husband's mother. She made the jellies and the pickles, the ice cream, the cakes, doing a little of everything to make our home comfortable and happy. And often she remarked that no one in the house did more and had less to show for it at night than she did. That is a truth about many households, one to do all the neglected things, to pick up all the loose threads.

Guests were made to understand, if they required anything, from a riding horse to a fresh stick on the fire, from a mint julep to a bedroom candle, they had only to call Charlotte. She was never beyond the reach of a summons, day or night. She was mammy to all the children of the house and all the other children that floated in from other people's houses.

There's no such mammy now. I pity the little ones of today with no black mammy of their very own to cuddle them to her warm bosom and [illegible] them and tell them funny rhymes about "The Monkey and the Baboon's Sister," to make them forget their griefs in a merry laugh. The nurses, the hifalutin nurses they have now—here today, gone tomorrow—without any anchorage in our hearts and homes, are not, never could be made mammies like we of threescore years and ten were blessed with.

Y. M. C. A. HAS ANNUAL MEETING

Central Board Reorganizes With C. D. Emmons at Head.

APPROVES WORK OF J. W. BURNS

Unanimously Re-Elects Him Secretary of Local Association.

The annual meeting of the Fort Wayne Y. M. C. A., which should have been held last October, but was postponed from time to time on account of some of the members not being able to attend, was held last night at the Railroad Y. M. C. A. rooms and it proved to be one of the most interesting meetings of its kind ever held by the association.

The association re-elected eight of the old members of the Central board and one new one—C. D. Emmons—and the personnel of the board is now as follows: J. M. McKay, S. F. Bowser, B. Paul Mossman and E. A. K. Hackett, representing the city, and M. S. Willson, C. D. Emmons, J. E. N. Dillon, H. A. Philley and R. H. Mauk, representing the railroad branch of the association.

This board organized last night by electing C. D. Emmons president, to succeed B. Paul Mossman, who was elected vice president, and R. H. Mauk secretary-treasurer.

The board of trustees elected by the Fort Wayne Y. M. C. A. is as follows: S. F. Bowser, J. M. McKay and B. Paul Mossman, representing the city, and C. R. Colmey, C. D. Emmons and Crawford Griswold, representing the railroad branch.

President C. D. Emmons named the following gentlemen as a committee of management: E. M. Reher, E. O. Bradley, F. H. Doty, C. R. Colmey, F. W. Leufesty, D. D. Miller, Frank S. Hickman, James Trythall, R. E. Doty, Crawford Griswold, J. E. N. Dillon, H. A. Philley, W. F. Jungles, C. D. Emmons, R. H. Mauk, M. S. Willson, J. W. Wells and J. W. Burns. This committee organized by electing Frank S. Hickman vice chairman, R. H. Mauk recording secretary and H. A. Philley treasurer.

J. W. Burns, who has been the secretary of the association for many years, was re-elected, not having any opposition.

The reports of the officers showed the association to be in good condition numerically and financially, the present membership being in the neighborhood of 300. The proposition to establish permanent and larger quarters came in for a share of the discussion, but no definite action was taken on the matter and it is likely that question will be allowed to rest until the movement for a Y. W. C. A. building has been carried to a consummation. An effort will be made to increase interest in the association's work and the impetus given it by the recent revival is expected to bring good results.

NEW ROSTER FOR PIPEFITTERS.

The Power Pipefitters have made arrangements for an entertainment on Friday evening, December 30, at which all of the pipefitters in the city, irrespective of affiliation with the union, will be invited, and a good time is promised to the guests. The Pipefitters have elected the following men to serve them in an official capacity during the ensuing year: President, J. W. Loney; vice president, John Ryan; recording secretary, A. F. Lapp; financial secretary and treasurer, F. J. Schwartz; inspector, John Whalen; guard, William Story; sentinel, Daniel Gibson, and the committee of allied crafts of the Wabash, F. J. Schwartz, John Ryan and J. W. Loney.

REMEMBERED THE PATROLMEN.

A box of "39" cigars, open to all patrolmen and officers of the Pennsylvania police department, rests upon Captain H. C. Stoll's table today. The smokers were a present from Jasper W. Fletcher, a miner from Korea and a former resident of Larwill, who is here for a short visit with friends and relatives. Mr. Fletcher went abroad with Leigh Hunt, the millionaire mine owner, ten years ago and this is his second visit to his old home since. Like Mr. Hunt, he has been successful and is quite wealthy.

MANAGER J. J. WOOD RETURNS.

J. J. Wood, general manager of the Fort Wayne Electric works, returned home this morning. He had been in New York and Schenectady on business for the company and his evident good humor this morning indicated that his mission had been successful. Mr. Wood boarded one of the all steel cars of the Pennsylvania "Special" in the new station in New York yesterday about noon and did not leave the train until it stopped in this city this morning.

RE-ASSIGNMENT OF CREWS.

Some changes in the assignment of brakemen have resulted from the recent increase in the number of crews on the Nickel Plate. Among them are the following: Brakemen J. J. Welsh and A. Watkins with Conductor Kepler; Brakeman W. J. Hart with Conductor Maxwell; Brakeman L. L. Weldon with Conductor Marshall; Brakeman I. M. Galloway with Conductor J. J. Stephens, and Brakemen J. W. Smith and I. P. Smith with Conductor Baxter.

INJURED BY FALL FROM LADDER

Fred Everding had one of his arms broken a few inches above the wrist Saturday afternoon when he fell a distance of twelve feet at the power plant of the Bass works. He is an attendant for Brickmason Lindemeyer, who had the contract for bricking up the new water tube boiler at the Bass works, and when the accident occurred Mr. Everding was engaged in taking down the scaffold, the work having been completed. While on the ladder it turned and allowed him to fall.

TAKEN ILL ON TRAIN.

A letter from E. E. Brown, who started with his mother and sister for San Bernardino, Cal., two weeks ago on account of the poor health of the young lady, states that she was taken seriously ill on the train and had to e taken off at Albuquerque, N. M., where she is now in a hospital, slowly improving. The family reside at Montpelier, Ohio, but Mr. Brown, who is the storekeeper at that point for the Wabash, is quite well known here through frequent business visits.

MR. SARVER HAS A FALL.

B. F. Sarver, councilman from the Seventh ward and general foreman of the Pennsylvania boiler department, gets about with great difficulty at present. As he was leaving his home on Woodland avenue Sunday, his feet slipped when they encountered some ice and he fell with his hips and back striking the edge of the stone step. He was assisted into the house and was not able to leave it until this morning.

INJURED MEN ARE OUT.

Machinist Theodore Schmitz and Machinist Michael Kelleher, of the Pennsylvania round house, made their first appearance on the streets since the accidents in which they figured occurred when they got down to the company's pay car. Mr. Schmitz had an ankle broken six weeks ago and is now getting around on crutches, and Mr. Kelleher was injured in the head by a fall from an engine in the round house last week.

HAND PAINFULLY INJURED.

Robert R. Shuman, of 1028 East Wayne street, a machinist in the Pennsylvania shops, had his left hand caught in the machine he was operating yesterday afternoon. Two of the fingers were badly squeezed and the palm of the hand was cut and bruised, making wounds which will disable the member for some days. No bones were broken, however, and the injury is only temporary.

JOE GAGE HERE ON VISIT.

Joseph D. Gage, of Denver, Col., is here to spend the holidays with relatives and friends. He has been greatly improved by the sojourn in the west. Mr. Gage was employed in a clerical capacity in the supplies department of the Wabash several years, leaving about six months ago for the west.

TEMPORARY LULL IN TRAFFIC.

There has been a temporary lull in traffic on the Lake Shore and Yardmaster C. H. Rose has taken one of the switching crews out of service until January 1, when it will be restored. The few days preceding Christmas are usually dull on lines whose business is chiefly local.

INSTALLING AN ELEVATOR.

The Adams & Taylor company, which recently purchased and moved into the old bottling works on Clay street known as the Brames property, are having a freight elevator installed in the building. A good portion of the company's machinery will be on the second story of the building.

ARM BADLY TWISTED.

F. C. Rutan, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, sustained a painful injury to one of his wrists yesterday. He was operating an electric drill when the glove on his hand caught in the bit and the member was turned about with the result that the wrist was sprained.

IMUROVEMENT AT KENDALLVILLE.

The G. R. & I. company will enlarge the "Y" at Kendallville and make other improvements for handling cars and trains at that place next spring. Present facilities there are inadequate.

SHIPPED SOME AIR RECEIVERS.

A car load of steel air receivers built at the Bass boiler shop for the Pennsylvania company were shipped this morning to Conway, where the railway company is making some improvements.

FIREMAN HURT BY FALL.

Fireman W. G. Franze made a misstep at the Pennsylvania coal docks last night and fell into one of the shallow pits, wrenching one of his ankles badly. He will be disabled for several days.

BOILER WASHER INJURED.

G. R. Griffith, an employe at the Pennsylvania shops, fell yesterday and painfully sprained and bruised one of his arms. He will be disabled several days.

CHECKING UP ACCOUNTS.

Auditor W. L. Greenhalgh, of the Wabash, and Auditor Carter, of the C., H. & D., are in the city to check up accounts with the Wabash freight agent and cashier.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Nickel Plate Brakeman J. M. Bryan is at St. Louis visiting his son.

Switchman E. W. Lott, of the Nickel Plate, is off duty on account of sickness.

Machinist Harry Hamm, of the Pennsylvania, is in Chicago to spend Christmas with relatives.

F. W. and Carl Mennewisch, I. Bott and A. Hettler, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

Engineers George Likely and H. F. Mansfield, who had been sick several days, reported for work on the Nickel Plate yesterday.

Engineer John Moore, of the Nickel Plate, is entertaining some visitors from Baldwin, Ind., and is taking a lay off for that purpose.

Passenger Engineer Joseph Studer, of the Nickel Plate, was taken sick yesterday and was unable to take his train out last night.

M. J. Masterson, the Pennsylvania lineman, who fell and injured his back last week, was able to resume work this morning.

A. H. Lett, a recent addition to our population, took employment as a truck builder at the Pennsylvania tank shop this morning.

Nickel Plate Fireman Nelson Garwood, accompanied by his family, will leave in a day or two for the west, where they will spend about two weeks with friends.

A. W. F. Meyer, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, went to Indianapolis this morning for an ante-holiday visit with relatives. He will return home Saturday.

The Nickel Plate will put a regular switching crew at Leipsic, Ohio, and Conductor A. P. Garland will have charge. His brakemen have not yet been announced.

Westbound Nickel Plate train No. 1 was over two hours late when it pulled into Fort Wayne yesterday afternoon. The delay was caused by the storms in the east and heavy travel.

E. F. Needham, general superintendent of motive power of the Wabash, passed through the city this morning on the way to Detroit. He was joined here by Master Mechanic G. W. Smith.

Engineer and Mrs. Oscar Shearer have returned from Hobart, where they were called several days ago to attend the funeral of Mrs. Shearer's grandmother, an aged and very highly respected resident of that city.

The new docks at Toledo, built by the C., H. & D. company at a cost of upwards of $1,000,000, will be completed and opened to business within thirty days. They are designed for handling coal that comes from West Virginia coal fields.

Blacksmith Samuel Reed, of the Nickel Plate round house, has returned from Chicago, where he took his little child for treatment by a specialist. The little one has been ailing for many months. Mrs. Reed also accompanied the child.

Traveling Passenger Agent T. P. Parnin and Local Ticket Agent C. A. Pritchard have established temporary offices in Culver, Ind., to better handle travel out of that place on account of the holidays. The Nickel Plate and the Pennsylvania handle on such occasions several hundreds of students at the military school, who go home to spend the holidays.

Yardmaster C. D. Rose and Claim Clerk C. S. Drew, of the Lake Shore, were guests of J. J. Flynn at Eaton Rapids, Mich., last Sunday. Mr. Flynn has been in poor health since he left Fort Wayne several weeks ago, but there has been a slight improvement. He is the company's agent at Eaton Rapids, a position he held in Fort Wayne eleven years.

GET BULK OF $500,000 ESTATE.

De Janon Girl, Who Eloped With Waiter, is Now Wealthy.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 20.—By the terms of the will of the late Robert Buist, the wealthy seedsman of this city, Roberta B. De Janon, his grandchild, who disappeared from this city with a hotel waiter last December and was found in Chicago, is given in trust the bulk of his estate, which is valued at about $500,000.

The will was executed on Dec. 6, this year, after he had been stricken with his fatal illness.

After giving $5,000 to Mrs. George Bedford, his sister, and making several other small bequests, the will provides that the residue of the estate be held in trust for Miss De Janon and that she be given the net income for life.

In the event Miss De Janon shall die without issue the estate is to be turned over to the Robert Buist company. "My purpose," the will states, "being to benefit and reward thereby H. C. Stahle, Edward J. Flood and Albert C. Kockerberger, who have been my faithful employes for many years and other than whom there is no one I would prefer to benefit in the event of my granddaughter dying without lawful issue."

Miss De Janon, whose mother is dead and whose father is said to reside in New York, is understood to be in southern California.

GIVE YOUR CHILDREN A CHANCE.

As children grow up, many serious misunderstandings follow from the failure of parents to recognize their children's individuality.

They assume that the children are exactly like themselves, when they are often totally unlike.

The many successes achieved in bringing up adopted children—children, usually, with a very poor start, rom unknown and undesirable antecedents—show what can be done when parents study their child intelligently.

Parents are often mortified when their children give more heed to the advice of others. Other people look at the children as individuals and study them without assuming to know all about them, and often discover traits entirely unsuspected by the parents. Children know and appreciate when they are being justly estimated.

THREE GREAT DANISH CLANS.

The Danish government recently found it necessary to grant heads of families the privilege of changing their names if they feel so disposed without incurring any legal costs. This is a necessary piece of legislation, for the population of Denmark is divided into three great clans—the Hansens, the Petersens and the Sorensens. In one town of 25,000 inhabitants over four-fifths bore one or the other of these names. Many of these have taken advantage of the new law and assumed more distinctive names.—The London Chronicle.

CHOICE BITS FROM THE "BUG" PRESS

Some Scintillant Things from the Matteawan "Loonytic."

UP TO THE AVERAGE

Fishkill Landing, N. Y., Dec. 20.—Inmates of the Mattewan state asylum for the insane have issued a newspaper that hereafter will be a regular weekly issue providing the moon or other causes do not affect the editors at publication time. In its first issue, which has just made its appearance, the scribes of the institution rap society generally and alienists particularly. In referring to them a paragraph under the "Wise and Otherwise Column" says:

"Some have a conscience, but their business is a con-science. Their 'science' is not exact. They are not as wise as they look."

James De Terre, formerly a newspaper man of Albany, who killed his brother some years ago, is the editor of the publication, which is called the "Loonytic." It contains some sketches, some humorous and others pathetic.

In its salutory the editor says:

"Every profession, trade or business has a journal to voice its wants, kicks and benefits except the bugs. In the state of New York 30,000 of us are now restrained, fed, housed and clothed at an annual expense of $6,000,000—a mere trifle. Outside of insane asylums thousands are being incubated in the hatcheries of so-called civilized and Christian society, preparing to make one of these palaces their final roosting place. It is to put them and the taxpayers who ante the freight wise to the inside of their future home that we launch this long-felt want. In time of peace, prepare for war—or a bug-house."

Other paragraphs read:

"Dr. R. B. Lamb, superintendent of the Mattewan asylum, says some high grade imbeciles are in the building. We rise to ask if any are located in the administration end of this gorgeous pile?"

"Since one of us roared a protest we get soap on bathing day. Visitors only see the show part of big institutions."

"The profits from this family journal will be spent for the bugs' entertainment. It's the same old thing here day after day. Give us a chance to help ourselves."

"Subscribe at once so you will not miss any of the good things of life. You are going to get our side of the story. The 'experts' have been doing all the talking. Here is where we dispense hot air."

"The price of the weekly is $1 in a distance. All money and assays should be sent to John Detiere, Mattewan State Hum Buggery, box 772, Fishkill on Hudson, New York."

Under the heading of the paper is the line "For the Wise and Otherwise." It is said Harry Thaw will contribute to the next issue.

Under the heading, "Weather Forecast," appears this paragraph: "The daily weather prognost is, if it does not stop raining it will be the first time it has failed to do so."

THOSE PIES OF BOYHOOD.

How delicious were the pies of boyhood. No pies now ever taste so good. What's changed? The pies? No. Its you. You've lost the strong, healthy stomach, the vigorous liver, the active kidneys, the regular bowels of boyhood. Your digestion is poor and you blame the food. What's needed? A complete toning up by Electric Bitters of all organs of digestion—Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Bowels—Try them. They'll restore your boyhood appetite and appreciation of food and fairly saturate your body with new health, strength and vigor. 50c at all druggists.

Buffalo is the latest city to doom the fire horse. Contracts have been let for the last horse-drawn fire engine that the city will buy. The fire commissioners announce that any apparatus they purchase in future will be of the automobile kind, and for each piece installed five horses will be put out of commission. That is, the motor engine will be both a pump and a hose wagon, and one of the new style vehicles will carry the equipment of two of the old-fashioned kind. It is figured that the cost of motive power of the horse-drawn apparatus is about $1,000 a year for engine and wagon and that the automobile will largely reduce this.

A SIMPLE SAFEGUARD FOR MOTHERS.

Mrs. D. Gilkeson, 326 Ingles Ave., Youngstown, Ohio, gained wisdom by experience. "My little girl had a severe cold and coughed almost continuously. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat and after using only one bottle her throat and lungs were entirely free from inflammation. Since then I always keep a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar in the house. Accept no substitutes. Dreier & Bro.

Many Norwegian families from the cities spend two months out of each summer in the mountains or along the picturesque fiords. Portable cottages are a feature of this outdoor life.

TAKE CARE

When the kidneys are affected, life is in danger. Read what Foley Kidney Pills have done for your neighbor. Mrs. C. Lichtsin, Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "My daughter was afflicted with pains in her back. I heard of Foley Kidney Pills and she began taking them according to directions with splendid results. The pains in her back vanished and she is well and strong today. I shall cheerfully recommend Foley Kidney Pills to all of those suffering with kidney trouble. Dreier & Bro.

Quoting a congratulatory telegram sent to a citizen of that city who has been conspicuous in communal and charitable work, the Denver Outlook says: "Your heart has ever beaten in sympathy with the suffering. Your hand has ever been open in response to appeal for succor and relief, a true soldier in the service of humanity; in appreciation of your life's work, the high school of humanity confers upon you, on this occasion, the highest degree, the ancient and honorable degree of Ph. D., 'Doer of Philanthropy.'"

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the metallic cough of croup, bringing dread to the household. Careful mothers keep Foley's Honey and Tar in the house and give it at the first sign of danger. It contains no opiates. Dreier & Bro.

At a dinner party given in Paris recently for two visiting American women the hostess and her daughter wore exquisitely colored silk dresses which attracted much attention because of their unusual designs, flying birds on one and clusters of flowers, of which no two groups were alike, on the other. These designs had been painted by two well-known artists, and fashionable dressmakers have since then taken many orders for painted costumes which one of the profession said would never become popular "because a dress of that kind costs a little fortune when it is well done and is worthless when it is done poorly."

White damp is the gas most feared by the miners, for its properties render it difficult to detect, inasmuch as it is tasteless, odorless and colorless and when mixed in the proportion of about one part gas to nine parts air is called "fire damp" and becomes explosive to a degree hard to realize unless one has seen its effects. Black damp, unlike white damp, is heavier than air, a non-explosive gas which may be detected by its peculiar odor. Again, unlike th eother, its effect is to suffocate and extinguish fire.—Atlantic Monthly.

According to the Engineering and Mining Journal, the rise in price of platinum still continues, under the conditions of good demand and diminishing supply. It has now reached a point where it takes nearly two ounces of gold to buy one ounce of refined platinum, while hard metal, which contains 10 to 15 per cent. of iridium, has passed that point.

Musical Instruments, Piano Benches and Talking Machines fro Christmas. Geo. Jacobs' Music House, 1021 Calhoun street.

It is a familiar fact that living at high altitude puts a strain on the heart, which has more work to do. In this connection, says Knowledge, it is interesting to notice Strohl's recent comparison of ptarmigan from the plains. He found that in ptarmigan, even in the young bird, the right ventricle of the heart is very distinctly stronger than in the willow grouse, a specific adaptation to the difference of habitat.

E. Savy has invented a machine for instantaneously converting liquid soap into solid soap to be used in bars or as a powder. As described in his patent, says the Scientific American, the apparatus comprises a rotable drum containing channels to receive and divide the soappaste into fine flakes, and provided with means for the introduction of a cooling gas or liquid. Fitting closely against the side of this drum there revolves in the opposite direction a smaller cylinder with double walls, which acts as a hopper for the liquid soap paste. Steam or hot water is introduced between the walls, while the sides of the cylinder are pierced with circular openings coinciding with the channels in the large drum. Means are also provided for discharging the solidified soap from the drum in the form of a bar or bars.

PARALYSIS KILLS 14 BABES.

November Statistics for Indiana Show 2,780 Deaths in November.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 20.—Fourteen deaths caused by infantile paralysis were reported to the state board of health during November. There were 2,780 deaths in the state during the month, and during the same month of last year 2,550. Tuberculosis caused the death of 296 persons. The deaths from infantile paralysis were distributed as follows: Benton county, 1; Bartholomew, 1; Cass, 2; Clinton, 1; Fountain, 1; Jefferson, 2; Knox, 1; Kosciusko, 1; Owen, 1; St. Joseph, 1; White, 1, and Whitley, 1. The cities show a higher death rate than the country. The death rate in Indianapolis was 13.6; Evansville, 16; Fort Wayne, 11.4; Terre Haute, 18.1; South Bend, 11.7; Muncie, 13.2; Anderson, 12.4, and Marion, 9.6. During November typhoid fever caused 115 deaths; diphtheria, 75; scarlet fever, 19; measles, 9; whooping cough, 26; pneumonia, 296; cancer, 145, and violence, 184. There were 4,456 birth in Indiana, an increase of 116 over the same month of last year. Of the new born, 2,209 were males and 2,113 were females. The highest rate, 31.3, was reported from Jackson county. The lowest, 2.8, was reported from Ohio county. Jackson county led the state in births for September.

This Christmas Make the Whole Family Happy With the Gift of a

Pianola Piano

The Greatest Provider of Pleasure in the Home

The object of Christmas giving is to bestow pleasure. All over the world, wherever music is appreciated and Christmas is observed, Santa Claus will bring one gift that will be sure of welcome. This will be

THE PIANOLA PIANO

No matter how barren of music the home has been before, how little its occupants have previously known of music, a new era will begin with the Pianola Piano's advent.

AN ERA OF MUSICAL ENJOYMENT—From the moment of its arrival, the Pianola Piano will give pleasure. In its enormous repertory of over 15,000 different compositions there is a wealth of music to suit every occasion and every taste.

It places a perfect command of the piano at every one's disposal, and in the unique ability it confers for artistic playing, it furnishes one of the most fascinating recreations ever devised.

CAUTION—Genuine Pianola Pianos, containing the Pianola with its exclusive features of musical importance, can be obtained in Fort Wayne only at the Aeolian Company. A branch establishment is maintained here, thus enabling the public to buy direct of the manufacturer.

VICTOR VICTROLA PARLORS—The Aeolian Company, is the largest exclusive Victor dealer in Fort Wayne. WIFE AGREES TO SPLIT WITH MAY

Mrs. Zickgraff Wants Husband to Help in Her Support.

HE AGREES TO DO IT

Mrs. Charles Zickgraff does not care so much for her husband's love and money, but she does not want May Oswald to have all of both and at the conclusion of the trial of a case in which she had her husband arrested for wife desertion she agreed to a split in which she is to get $3 a week and Charles and May can do as they like with the remainder.

They lived for a time in Logansport and came here a couple of months ago after she had had him arrested for abandoning her. They got along for a while, but one night Mrs. Zickgraff caught Charles and May at a picture show and again heard they went to another and more expensive playhouse. Then she kicked and made her demand.

The Other Cases.

Ed Long, Jerry Mullin and Nathan Crow, plain drunks, were let go. John Lee and Mike Lafferty were fined $5 and costs each and Bert Cullen drew $1 and costs.

The cases against Frank Johnson and Grover Schlattebach, who are accused of having stolen brass from the Wabash company, were continued.

William Anderson was sent over fifteen days for vagrancy.

A glance over the list of names of the first officials of the new county of Dewey indicates that Lo knows how to play politics when the opportunity comes his way just as well as does his pale-faced brethren. There were three voting precincts, Timber Lake, White Horse and Isabel. Isabel wanted the county seat, as did Timber Lake, both being within less than two miles of the northern line of the new county. White Horse was not a candidate, but the results show that out of the situation White Horse got the official list and Timber Lake got the county seat. Isabel threatens to contest everything, but the wily reds pulled out of it with practically every office in the new county as their share of the spoils.—St. Paul Dispatch.

A new discovery with regard to the phenomena of the sense of sight has been announced by Dr. F. W. Edridge-Green, an eminent English authority in visual research. He has found by an interesting series of experiments and tests that the process of vision is not the simple transmission by the optic nerve to the brain of objects photographed upon the retina. The new discovery in nontechnical language amounts to this. In front of the retina there is a small chamber or sac of clear liquid which is in constant motion of currents or eddies. Dr. Green finds that this liquid itself contains distinct perceptive nerve power which plays an important part in conveying impressions to the brain.

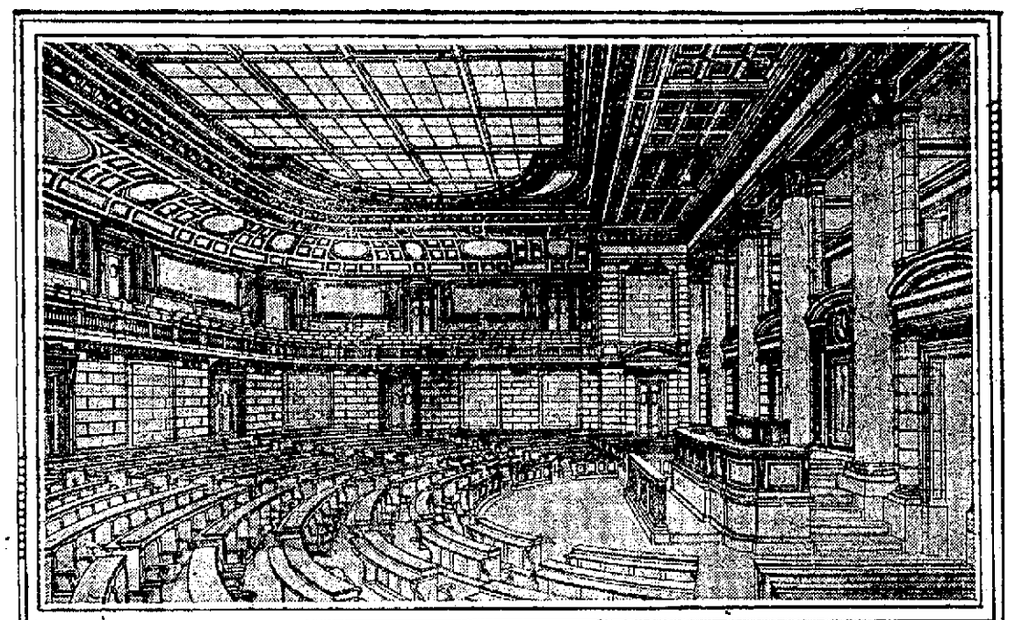
BENCHES FOR THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES



HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES FITTED WITH BENCHES.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—Washington authorities are considering a proposition to reduce the size of the hall of the house of representatives to make more room. This is to be done to make space for the additional membership which will result from the reapportionment under the last census, which gives the United States nearly 92,000,000 population. Individual desks are to be sacrificed, and Mr. Elliott Woods, superintendent of the capitol building, proposes a change to something not unlike the English house of commons.

There are now 391 members of the house of representatives. When they are all in the house it looks like a hive of bees about to swarm. To take care of the thirty to fifty new members who may come in when the reapportionment is made and continue the present single desk and chair arrangement is out of the question. So it is proposed to contract the house, and in this way, through changing its manner of seating, make more room.

It is proposed to bring in the walls of the hall of the house of representatives until the room will be 61x80 feet. This will make it smaller than the senate chamber, which is 113x80 feet. This proposed contraction is possible through the adoption of desks which run in a continuous half circle but for the breaks which make the aisles and the use of a modification of the bench idea. Instead of the somewhat uncomfortable benches of the house of commons, Mr. Woods proposes nicely cushioned chairs, to be stationary, but set closely together and separated by narrow arms. Space saved in the hall will be thrown into the corridors and the cloak rooms, which will be maintained as before.

The scheme to change the seating of the house has been tried before and failed. Members are loath to give up the mahogany desks, the tops of which raise like those in school rooms and disclose in some cases an amazing mass of unanswered correspondence.

Startling indeed is the report of Representative Samuel W. McCall, from the committee on library, on the proposal to rearrange the hall of the house. It recalls the Lincoln steamboat, which had so big a whistle that when the whistle was in use the steamboat stopped moving.

"The enormous size of the hall," says the report, "makes it very difficult for a member with a voice of ordinary strength to be heard even under the best conditions, while if any degree of confusion exists it becomes in most cases impossible to hear one who is speaking half way across the hall. In order to agitate this enormous volume of air many of the members are compelled to make a very special effort, and the energy which should be employed in the brain is diverted to the lungs, and a style is demanded which is destructive of the argumentative manner and leads to declamation and the mere ad captandum."

The floor space of a member in the present house is ten and three-fourths feet. That of the Metropolitan opera house in New York is five and one-third feet.

DR. COOK TELLS HOW IT WAS

Explorer Says the Silence, Stretching Wastes of Ice and Snow, the Cold and Hunger and His Desperate Quest, May Have Made Him Queer.

New York, Dec. 20.—In the first installment of his own story, which is to appear in the forthcoming January Hampton's Magazine, Dr. Frederick A. Cook frankly confesses, as promised in recent news dispatches, to uncertainty regarding his claim to the discovery of the north pole. After a detailed and remarkable account of the mental processes which he underwent on his arctic journey, Dr. Cook, with a remarkable degree of self-analysis, describes the process of conviction of final attainment which grew upon him. Instead of repeating the day by day account of his travels over miles of ice, Dr. Cook devotes himself chiefly to what is a remarkable mind journey.

Dr. Cook's confession, which is announced as a human document of extraordinary interest and importance, is presented by Hampton's, which published Commander Peary's story, "The Discovery of the North Pole," on its own merits. Coming after a mysterious seclusion for an entire year, during which time he has had little to do but reflect and arrive at conclusions, Dr. Cook's confession is most remarkable perhaps in that he acknowledges his belief that it is absolutely impossible by scientific observations to ascertain the achievement of the north pole, and that his own conviction was not based entirely upon such "proof."

"I am told that many people who discredit my original story of my experience believe in my good faith," says Dr. Cook. "This moves me more than I can tell. If I did believe in myself, honestly and sincerely, if I felt convinced of my claim when I reached Copenhagen and later New York, is it just to call me the world's most intrepid fakir, a common, deliberate swindler?"

Declaring a desire to take friend and foe into his confidence, Dr. Cook, in a painstaking effort to explain himself, gives an account of his early life, his boyhood ambitions, and the final focusing of his desire upon the boreal center. After sixteen years of fruitless effort the final opportunity came to him with an invitation to accompany John R. Bradley on a northern hunting trip. Dr. Cook says that his immediate intention was merely to return to the north, and that it was not until he arrived at Annoatok that he finally determined to try for the pole.

"Most certainly we talked of the pole," says Dr. Cook, "but, positively and emphatically, it was not an important incentive to the journey. Back in my brain, barely above the subconscious realm, was the feeling that this, however, might offer opportunity in the preparation for a final future determination. I, therefore, without any conscious purpose, and with my last penny, paid out of my purse for extra supplies for a personal expedition should I leave the ship.

"When I left New York my plans were not at all definite. Even had I known then that I should try for the pole I should not have sought any geographical license from some vague and unknown authority. Though much has been made by critics of our quiet departure, I always felt the quest of the pole as a personal ambition, a crazy hunger I had to satisfy.

"Accused of being the most colossal liar of history, sometimes I feel that more lies have been told about me than about anyone ever born.

Took No Gum Drops with Him.

"As a popular illustration of the sort of yarns that were told, let me refer to the foolish fake of the gum drops. Some one started the story that I expected to reach the pole by bribing the Eskimos with gum drops—perhaps the idea was that I was to lure them on from point to point with regularly issued rations of these confections.

"Wherever I went on my lecture tour after my return to the United States, much to my irritation I saw 'Cook' gum drops conspicuously displayed in confectionery store windows. Hundreds of pounds of gum drops were sent to my hotel with the compliments of the manufacturers. On all sides I heard the gumdrop story, and in almost every paper read the reiterated tale of leading the Eskimos to the pole by dangling a gum drop on a string before them. I never denied this, as I never denied any of the fakes printed about me. The fact is, that I never heard the gum-drop yarn until I came to New York. We took no gum drops with us on our polar trip, and, to my knowledge, no Eskimo ate a gum drop while with me.

Inception of the Pole Idea.

"Among the many things which the public has been misled into believing is that Mr. Bradley and I together connived for the purpose of essaying this quest of the pole. The fact is, despite published statements, that not until I reached Annoatok, and saw that conditions were favorable for a long sledge journey, did I finally determine to make a northward trip; not until then did I tell my decision definitely to Mr. Bradley.

DR. FREDERICK A. COOK.
(From Photograph taken for Hampton's Magazine a few weeks ago when the Explorer was IN AMERICA.)

"Could I make one powerful dash and achieve the thing that had haunted me for years?" he asks. "My former failures dogged me. If I did not try now, it was a question whether ever again an opportunity should come to me. At Annoatok the best hunters of the tribe had gathered for the winter hunt. Already immense caches of meat had been stored. Hundreds of dogs, in prime condition were there for selection. From the strong, hefty hunters I could pick the best men to accompany me. Every condition was auspicious for the effort. I confess the task seemed audacious almost to the verge of impossibility; yet I want to say that I had not only the determination to try, but the preconceived conviction that the thing would be done—yes, if by a miracle. I would try, I told myself; I believed I should succeed."

After the departure of Mr. Bradley Dr. Cook says he began to brood upon the task which he says he set himself, saying: "My life from this time onward was a curious combination of outward impressions and introspective experiences. I want you to understand this thing was no casual jaunt with me. All my life hinged about it, my hopes were bent upon it; the doing of it was part of me, and instead of a mere physical journey it became a psychic experience, a nightmare. My plans of action, I want to emphasize, were not haphazard and hairbrained. Logically and clearly I now mapped out a campaign. It was based upon experience in known conditions, experience gathered after years of discouragement and failure.

"I aimed to reach the top of the globe in the angle between Alaska and Greenland, which had not been tried. With Annoatok as a base of operations, I planned to carry sufficient supplies over Schley Land and along the west coast of the game lands, trusting that the game along this region would furnish sufficient supplies en route, to the shores of the Polar sea. With men and dogs living on fresh meat, I figured that they would be in the best condition for a dash over the circumpolar ice. This journey to land's end would also afford a test of every article of equipment needed in the field work and would enable me also to choose from an entire tribe of Eskimos those most able to endure the rigors which lay before us."

Answers Incorrect Statements.

After telling of his start from Annoatok in February, 1908, with a party of ten Eskimos, 103 dogs, and his entering Bay Fjord, where he encountered 83 degrees below zero, F. H., Dr. Cook takes the occasion of answering many widely quoted statements, as follows:

"I have been held responsible and widely criticised for citing a temperature of minus 83 degrees centigrade, which was the misquotation of a reporter who met me on the Hans Egede off the Shaw, the northernmost point of Denmark, before my arrival at Copenhagen. I have been quoted, by the same reporter, as declaring that I had discovered and traversed 30,000 square miles of new land. What I did report, and believe, was that in my journey I had passed through an area wherein it was possible to declare 30,000 square miles—a terrestrial unknown of water and ice—cleared from the blank of our charts. I did discover what I believed to be land, on the 20th day of March, 1908. This was an irregular mountainous line along the horizon to the westward, extending for about fifty miles between the 84th and 85th parallels close to the 102d meridian."

After detailing the supplies taken on his trip, Dr. Cook says: "Were our supplies sufficient to take us to the pole? Much criticism has been expressed concerning the meagerness of food. I can say only that, in the final analysis, this supply barely allowed us to keep alive. I doubt if any men ever suffered from hunger so intensely as we did and lived. Death was on our journey northward and southward, a grim, persistent companion, and only the love of life, most deep-seated of human instincts, kept us from succumbing to utter despair. Yet this deprivation and despair had its mental reaction—a reaction which was fortunate, for it was the belief in my achievement that kept me alive in hours of direst physical trial."

Few Scientific Observations.

Dr. Cook says that his proposed journey was not one of scientific conquest, but one for which he expected only the return due a pathfinder. In this part of his story occurs this remarkable statement:

"My conviction that I reached the pole never was based solely upon observations, figures, or mathematical calculations. I did take these, of course. Sometimes I took them hastily, again working them out with most painstaking accuracy. Sometimes my mind was clear as crystal, again I was dazed with hunger, thirst and cold. These figures did not serve to convince me of my achievement. They only corroborated my inner conviction of progress. They were important in working a plan of action over a trackless waste; but as a proof of the conquest they must always be insufficient.

"Was my inner conviction that I attained the pole insane? This has been asked and suggested. Perhaps. Which raises the whole problem of the border lines of sanity. I was, I feel, no more insane than any man who frantically pursues an ideal—an ideal which may seem hairbrained to the practical—and who finally to himself, if to no other, is satisfied that he has accomplished his desire. My conviction may be beyond the bounds of reason. Sometimes now I feel that it is. Again I do not. I do not know."

That his mind may have been affected by hardships and that, in a state of bodily fatigue and mental bewilderment he convinced himself that he reached the pole, Dr. Cook admits. "That I did travel upward of twenty-five hundred miles, in some direction, even my enemies credit. Some have described my journey as being in a semicircle, others admit my going pretty far north. Whether I went directly north, or was diverted at times does not, cannot, change the facts of my experience. We were compelled on our journey to go in various directions to find a way. We made wide detours, at other times we had to retreat and find new passages. Perhaps, in so doing, I did become confused and overestimated my progress. If that is so, it is a fact neither I nor anyone can settle now. Wherever I went, however, I maintain it was northward, and I did reach a spot which I believed to be the pole."

One of the most extraordinary features in Dr. Cook's confession is his admission that his conviction of attaining the north pole was based largely upon his observation of his shadow. This theory he presents with great detail.

THE GIRL BEHIND THE COUNTER.

A Pleasing Personality and Neat Attire Bring Swift and Sure Reward.

(Boston Herald.)

Nowhere does a pleasing personality combined with scrupulous neatness gain a larger and swifter reward than in the case of the little lady behind the counter. The little lady's success as a saleslgirl depends entirely upon the interest she takes in her job.

"Don't sell things just for the sake of making a sale," is the advice of a man who superintends a big department store in Boston; "study your customers until you get so that if they show an uncertainty as to what they want (and many do), you can almost read their minds and hit on just what they desire. When a woman finds a girl who always seems to know what she wants, she will stick to her like a leech, send her friends to her and stand by her always. But it is to get that confidence that you must work.

"While waiting on a customer let your manner be just as pleasant and deferential, just as interested and painstaking as though a member of the firm were at your side taking mental note of your work. Show your customers other little things which might possibly be of interest to them, and if they do not buy at the moment, the chances are that they will at some future date, and come to you. Let them think the store is at their service without alloying your attention to become familiar; and who knows but in course of time you may have a pet list of customers of your own who will seek you out whenever they come to your counter?

"Dress neatly. Put up your hair in a pretty style, one that is becoming to you, and not in any exaggerated up-to-date fashion that looks out of place at your work. Pay particular attention to your clothes, to the manner in which they are put on, to your belts, your collars and your shoes. Keep your hands in immaculate condition, for they, in all probability, come into more prominence than any other part of your body, your face excepted.

"Finally, wear as little jewelry as possible. A good brooch and a watch chain are enough—and no one will mind if you wear no jewelry at all."

The Adventures of Mr. Peter Ruff

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

"Ill Blows the Wind that Profits Nobody"

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THE PEARSON PUBLISHING CO.

They all listened. The front-door bell rang. Adolphus, in response to a gesture from his mother, rose sulkily to his feet.

"Job I hate!" he muttered as he left the room.

The Barnes's, full of the small curiosity of people of their class, were intent upon listening for voices outside. The demeanor of Mr. Spencer Fitzgerald, therefore, escaped their notice. It is doubtful, in any case, whether their perceptions would have been sufficiently keen to have enabled them to trace the workings of emotion in the countenance of a person so magnificently endowed by Providence with the art of subterfuge. Mr. Spencer Fitzgerald seemed simply to have stiffened into acute and earnest attention. It was only for a moment that he hesitated. His unfailing inspiration told him the truth!

His course of action was simple,—he rose to his feet and strolled to the window.

"Some one who has lost their way in the fog, perhaps," he remarked. "What a night!"

He laid his hand upon the sash—simultaneously there was a rush of cold air into the room, a half-angry, half-frightened exclamation from Adolphus in the passage, a scream from Miss Maud—and no Mr. Spencer Fitzgerald! No one had time to be more than blankly astonished. The door was opened, and a police inspector, in very nice dark braided uniform and a peaked cap, stood in the doorway.

Mr. Barnes dropped the port, and Mrs. Barnes, emulating her daughter's example, screamed. The inspector, as though conscious of the draught, moved rapidly toward the window.

"You had a visitor here, Mr. Barnes," he said quickly—"a Mr. Spencer Fitzgerald. Where is he?"

There was no one who could answer! Mr. Barnes was speechless between the shock of the split port and the appearance of a couple of uniformed policemen in his dining-room. John Dory, the detective, he knew well enough in his private capacity, but in his uniform, and attended by policemen, he presented a new and startling appearance! Mrs. Barnes was in hysterics, and Maud was gazing like a creature turned to stone at the open window, through which little puffs of fog were already drifting into the room. Adolphus, with an air of bewilderment, was standing with his mouth and eyes wider open than they had ever been in his life. And as regards the honored guest of these admirable inhabitants of Daisy Villa, there was not the slightest doubt but that Mr. Spencer Fitzgerald had disappeared through the window!

Fitzgerald's expedition was nearly at an end. Soon he paused, crossed the road to a block of flats, ascended to the eighth floor by an automatic lift, and rang the bell at a door which bore simply the number 11. A trim parlor-maid opened it after a few minutes' delay.

"Is Miss Emerson at home?" he asked.

"Miss Emerson is in," the maid admitted, with some hesitation, "but I am not sure that she will see any one to-night."

"I have a message for her," Fitzgerald said.

"Will you give me your name, sir, please?" the maid asked.

An inner door was suddenly opened. A slim girl, looking taller than she really was by reason of the rug upon which she stood, looked out into the hall—a girl with masses of brown hair loosely coiled on her head, with pale face and strange eyes. She opened her lips as though to call her visitor by name, and as suddenly closed them again. There was not much expression in her face, but there was enough to show that his visit was not unwelcome.

"You!" she exclaimed. "Come in! Please come in at once!"

Fitzgerald obeyed the invitation of the girl whom he had come to visit. She had retreated a little into the room, but the door was no sooner closed than she held out her hands.

"Peter!" she exclaimed, "Peter, you have come to me at last!"

Her lips were a little parted; her eyes were bright with pleasure; her whole expression was one of absolute delight. Fitzgerald frowned, as though he found her welcome a little too enthusiastic for his taste.

"Violet," he said, "please don't look at me as though I were a prodigal sheep. If you do, I shall be sorry that I came."

Her hands fell to her side, the pleasure died out of her face—only her eyes still questioned him. Fitzgerald carefully laid his hat on a vacant chair.

"Something has happened?" she said. "Tell me that all that madness is over—that you are yourself again!"

"So far as regards my engagement with Messrs. Howell & Wilson," he said, despondently, "you are right. As regards—Miss Barnes, there has been no direct misunderstanding between us, but I am afraid, for the present, that I must consider that—well, in abeyance."

"That is something!" she exclaimed, drawing a little breath of relief. "Sit down, Peter. Will you have something to eat? I finished dinner an hour ago, but——"

"Thank you," Fitzgerald interrupted. "I supped—extremely well in Streatham."

"In Streatham!" she repeated. "Why, how did you get there? The fog is awful."

"Fogs do not trouble me," Fitzgerald answered. "I walked. I could have done it as well blindfold. I will take a whisky and soda, if I may."

She led him to an easy-chair.

"I will mix it myself," she said.

Free for Stomach and Bowels

We are in receipt of letters from Mrs. Eva Gaskins, 304 Madison St., Topeka, Kans., and Mr. P. H. Gavellas, Wagoner, Okla., as well as many others, telling about the wonderful results they have secured in the cure of their stomach and liver troubles by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

This remedy, as all readers doubtless know, has been before the public for a generation and is now being more extensively used than any other remedy for stomach, liver and bowel complaints. According to reliable testimony, it seems to be a very quick and lasting cure for constipation, indigestion and dyspepsia, liver trouble, biliousness, headaches, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar disorders. It is a liquid with tonic effect, and so mild and gentle in action that a child as well as a grown person can take it, in fact, it has no equal for children, women and old people.

It arouses the flow of gastric juice, and by a peculiar action trains the stomach and bowel muscles to again do their work naturally, and in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with. A free sample bottle can be had for trial by sending your address to the doctor, for in this way Mrs. Gaskins, Mr. Gavellas and many others first learned of the cure. Later, when satisfied it is the remedy you need, do as others are doing and buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 20.—Because of a decrease of 2,880,000 bushels in the European visible supply, wheat today took an upward slant. Unfavorable crop conditions in France and Great Britain were also factors in favor of higher prices. Dry weather in the American southwest kept the bears from being demonstrative. It was noticed, too, that quite a little cash business was being done here right along. On the other hand, Argentine and Austrian offers were said to be meeting with a poor inquiry though quotations had been lowered. Furthermore the piling up of stocks at primary points in this country continued with little if any abatement. Opening prices here were unchanged to ⅛@¼c up. May started at 95⅜c to 95½c, the same as last night, to a gain of ⅛c and rose to 95⅞c.

Country offerings of corn were light and a little demand from shorts firmed up prices. May opened a shade higher to a shade lower at 47⅛c to 47¼c and advanced to 47⅝@47½c.

The oats market responded in a moderate way to corn strength. May opened unchanged at 33⅞c and went to 34c.

Scarcity of offerings made provisions strong. First sales were the same as last night to 5c higher, with May options at $15.15 to $15.20 for pork, $10.10 to $10.12½ for lard and $9.65 for ribs. A further rise all around ensued.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Dec. 20.—Irregularity of prices was the feature of the opening of the stock market today. Brooklyn Transit and National Lead advanced a point and there were numerous fractional gains. Declines of half a point in United States Steel and Southern Railway and of ⅝ in Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific were the most severe losses. Trading was in moderate volume.

The depression which followed the first dealings was arrested before it had made much headway generally, though it forced Union Pacific and Lehigh Valley a point below their first prices before it was checked. Supporting orders and the exigencies of the shorts to cover started prices briskly up again and there was a jump in Union Pacific, placing it ½ point above yesterday's close. Southern Pacific was consistently strong and sold 1¼ above where it left off yesterday. Lehigh Valley met stock at all rallies and when it broke to 175¾, the general market began to waver, but did not recede much.

Prices gave way sharply the weakness of Lehigh Valley exerting an unsettling influence on the stocks and the market in general. The decline of over 2 points in Lehigh Valley was ascribed to rumors that the directors had decided not to increase the dividend at their meeting tomorrow to above 8 per cent. Another unfavorable influence was the decline of $686,000 in the November net earnings of the Baltimore & Ohio. Toward noon the market stiffened a trifle and became semi-stagnant. Bonds were steady.

After establishing a somewhat firmer tone for the general list the room traders began to pay more attention to individual stocks and took hold of the coolers following the Jersey Central dividend announcement and the decree of the United States circuit court favoring the railroads in the coal roads discrimination case. Reading was run up to 151¾, an overnight gain of almost a point, and Lehigh Valley reduced its loss to a fraction.

Trading was nominal, but prices hardened slowly until the list averaged pretty well up to yesterday's closing. Lehigh Valley made up half its loss. Some wide changes occurred in some of the less active stocks. St. Joseph & Grand Island first preferred improved 5 points and Detroit United Railways 1. Long Island sagged 2½. National Biscuit and Pullman 2, Rock Island preferred 1¾ and Southern Railway preferred 1.

THE MONEY MARKET.

New York, Dec. 20.—Prime mercantile paper, 5@5½ per cent.

Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 482.50@482.60 for sixty day bills, and 485.55 for demand.

WHITE FRUIT HOUSE BULLETIN

Just Such Events as These That Keep This Store "Humming"

A great many stores are ready to shut OFF STEAM during the holidays and let business coast through the Christmas season. "Trading is always big, anyhow, and we will sell Christmas goods at fine profits" is the way the usual store figures it.

Not So at the Fruit House

If there is any time during the year when people ought to get bargains, it is at Christmas time, when often times a limited income must be stretched over list of gifts. We have planned many special events for the next few days, and it is just such merchandiseing that makes the people realize that the White Fruit House is trying to serve them to the limit of their capacity. Read the list and then get busy.
